LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 23.—Ruth Judd, "Phantom Defendant," was represented by a flesh and blood attorney today as the county coroner summoned a jury for the inquest into the deaths of the two Phoenix women, victims of the ghastly "trunk murder."

Two stained trunks and a suitcase, impromptu coffins of the murder victims, were moved into the inquest room of Coroner Frank Nance today as a crowd began gathering for the death hearing.

Another exhibit was the hat box in which the murder gun and surgical knives were brought from Phoenix. The hat box was marked "A. A. M." which are the initials of Agnes Ann Mason, the married name of one of the victims.

Attorney Louis P. Russill, formerly municipal judge, was employed to represent Mrs. Judd, 27-year-old hospital secretary, now a fugitive

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Boys who seem to have conceived the idea that sending in a false alarm of fire, is Hallow'e'en fun, are making a serious error. Three lads were arrested on the North Hill last night for this stunt, and more arrests are immiñent. This is one thing that is not to be tolerated, and boys must cease the practice at once, if they do not want to be in mighty serious trouble. Fire alarm boxes are for use only in time of fire, and any other use of them is a violation of the law and subject to heavy penalty, and likely jail sentence.

Today there are many men working at the Mission gardens digging turnips and carrots which will be brought into the Rescue Mission rooms for dstribution among the needy of the city.

Observed a nice slogan for the Community Chest drive on one of the bulletin boards of New Castle churches. It was this "Would You Offer Jesus Christ the same excuses you offer Community Chest workers, if He were to Appeal to You for personal aid."

Do you know what Pa Newc observed Thursday as he sat in a group of well dressed women, well, it was a hatpin, jauntily holding on one of the new Eugenie model hats. First hat pin Pa Newc has seen in a good many years, but suppose we will be seeing more of these weapons if the women continue to leave their hair grow.

Bobby Jaxtheimer brought his dog to story hour at the public library Thursday. The dog stood just outside the door while the lad listened to the fairy stories, and behaved very nicely.

Schwab Declares Time Has Come For Industry To "Sail Into The Job"

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Declaring that the financial world was straightening itself out and that the house of steel was now in order, Charles M. Schwab, veteran soldier of the steel industry, today sounded a trumpet call to the members of the American iron and steel institute to "sail into the job" of improving economic conditions.

Schwab, president of the institute and chairman of the board of directors of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, asserted that "industry has gotten its second wind" and that "economy and efficiency' would lead business out of the depression.

Credit Structure Improved

"The improving of our credit structure by virtue of the steps advocated by President Hoover and the bankers its a fundamental step in the right direction, Schwab told the general meeting of the institute.

"Fear has been lessened. There will be no collapse. The sources of credit have been mobilized and we shall pull through.

Schwab listed the necessary steps for improving conditions as follows:

"A better financial structure, which is now under way.

"A liquidation of extravagances in business including prices, which has already taken place in most lines to an abnormal extent.

"A reduction in the cost of government which is borne by industry and the people.

"A vigorous enterprising attitude on the part of industry.

Must Consider World Conditions

He said that one lesson from the

VIGOROUS OPPOSITION TO RAIL POOL DECISION

Eastern Railroad Executives Offer Stern Opposition To Commission Plan

Legislative Problems Will Be Discussed At Session Of Rail Association

By LEIGH MATTESON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 23—Vigorous opposition to the Interstate Commerce Commissions proposal to tax the fairly prosperous heavy freight carriers railroads for the benefit of poorly supported railroads is expected from shippers along Eastern lines.

Among the several members of the asociation of railway executives who expressed this opinion today was A. C. Needles, president of the Norfolk and Western railway.

Customers of his line include Henry Ford, the United States Steel Corporation and Allied Chemical Company. Coal for their plants is carried in huge quantities by the N. & W.

Protests Entered

He predicted that they had other large customers of the line who would resent the imposition of freight rate increases if the proceeds of such increases would be given outright to the weaker railroads of the country for the purpose of stabilizing railroad credit.

His opinion largely explains the decision of the association yesterday to ask the I. C. C. to modify its plan so the money raised by freight rate increases could be loaned and not given outright to weaker railroads.

Many of the larger eastern railroads find themselves in a similar position to that of Needle's line. Their shipper customers, the executives believe, would resent any acquiescence in plans to tax them for the benefit of lines they never use nor have any interest in.

In the executive sessions today the association will deal with legislative problems involving the competition by bus, motor, truck and waterways transportation.

SIGNS OF BETTER CONDITIONS AHEAD

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Definite signs of business improvement were reflected today in statements from steel corporation executives attending the meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

E. T. Weir, chairman of the board of the National Steel Corporation, stated that the business of the company has improved since October 1, and added he believed the low point has been seen in the steel industry generally.

T. M. Girdler, chairman of the directors' board of the Republic Steel Corporation, said that although the time for a busy fall season is about over, there are signs of better conditions ahead and the BURLINGTON, Ia., Oct. 23.—Rain today prevented a surprise attack by national guardsmen on the encampment of embattled Des Moines county farmers resisting the state tuberculin cattle test.

Five companies of the militia were called out before dawn, but hardly had they marched a hundred yards down the road when a cloudburst struck them. The troops retreated to their barracks.

All was quiet at the Jake Eversman farm, headquarters of the farmers, but plans for resistance went steadily ahead.

Japanese Delegation To League Works Feverishly To Bring About Settlement

TOKYO SENDS INSTRUCTIONS

New Proposals To Bring About End Of Manchurian Warfare May Halt Adjournment

By FREDERIC K. ABBOTT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

GENEVA, Oct. 23.—The Japanese delegation to the council of the League of Nations was feverishly busy today working out a totally new formula for settlement of their country's dispute with China.

This plan, based upon fresh instructions from Tokyo, will probably be offered to the council this afternoon as a counterproposal to the League's suggested settlement of the Manchurian question, International News Service learned.

Have New Idea.

Tokyo has notified Kenkichi Yoshisawa, Japanese spokesman here, that the Japanese government cannot approve adoption of the resolution calling for Japanese evacuation of Manchuria by November 16.

At the meeting of the council, scheduled for 5 o'clock this afternoon, the Japanese will not, however, suggest modification of this resolution by amendments; but will instead submit their completely new idea.

Hopes that this afternoon's meeting of the council would be the last before adjournment dwindled when word that the Japanese were drafting new proposals reached members of the council.

They were further dimmed by the likelihood that the Chinese will not be ready to express their attitude toward the league's plan for restoring peace in the far east until they have had time to study it more exhaustively.

Protest Entered.

Dr. Aldred Sze, chief Chinese delegate, received a cable from Nanking today acknowledging receipt of the text of the resolution on which a vote was scheduled for this afternoon. He expressed doubt, however,

Lack Only $9,000 Of Reaching Quota With Many Prospects Unseen Yet

FINE REPORT IS SUBMITTED TODAY

Workers in the 1931 Community Chest campaign submitted another fine report today, when $9,755 was reported, bringing the total to date to $41,622. Approximately $9,000 is yet needed to make up the quota set for this year, and the workers themselves asked that the campaign be continued until Monday.

A number of organizations reported 100 per cent contributions at the meeting today, and the enthusiasm shown by the workers indicates that if they do not reach their quota Monday, they will come close to it.

Dr. C. J. Williamson, chairman of the campaign, who has been out of the city for the past two days because of the death of a relative, was in attendance today and presided at the meeting, giving a splendid talk at the conclusion of the reports.

Cowboy Killed By Officer In New York City

ARGUMENT STARTS OVER TAXI FARE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Hundreds of excited Broadwayites today saw Patrolman John Quigley, felled by a cut from a riding crop, shoot from his knees, killing Owen Crosby, 25, Carlsbad, N. M., Rodeo cowboy.

Crosby, according to the policeman, had refused to pay a 15 cent taxicab fare near Madison Square Garden where the rodeo is being held. Quigley ordered him to settle the fare.

Officer Attacked

A mix-up resulted, during which Quigley said half a dozen of other cowboy stars attacked him.

He charged Joe Rock, Fort Worth, Texas, pinioned his arms behind his back and reigned a shower of blows upon him with a whip.

Wrenching free, the policeman struggled to his knees, snatched at his weapon and ordered back the cowboys.

He said he fired when the cowboys surged closer to him.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—French and American policies in the affairs of a weary world—which have been radically divergent in recent years—were placed vis-a-vis today in the persons of President Hoover and Premier Laval.

Their conferences, beginning today, will run the gamut of international irritants, from war debts to reparations, from disarmament to the question of France's "security," from gold reserves to the matter of extending the international debt moratorium.

Out of these discussions may come much—or nothing.

Washington Hopeful

Washington is hopeful for much, hopeful of a reconciliation of Franco-American views that will spell cooperation in the future. But, in view of France's intransigent views on disarmament, security, and reparations, there is behind this attitude of hopefulness a very discernible air of skepticism that either the French or the American viewpoints will be materially altered by the brief three days of personal contact. Food Donations For Jameson Memorial Hospital Are Being Gathered

This, the first of two food donation days for the Jameson Memorial hospital, is proving even more successful than was anticipated.

The Jameson hospital lobby where gifts of food from citizens of all the city and county are being received and placed on display, by noon today had assumed the appearance of a large grocery supply room.

If the gifts continue coming as rapidly as they did this morning, the donations will far surpass those of last year.

Both in the hospital lobbly and in the donation room on North Mercer street in the Moore building several members of the Jameson Hospital Aide are in charge, receiving the many gifts.

Food received at the North Mercer street room is immediately hauled to the hospital and put on display there.

Many churches, granges and individuals are planning to send their gifts to the hospital this afternoon or Saturday.

There was a time in the early fall when a fellow could gather a couple of tons, but now they're so scarce every tree that's good is guarded by dogs and a couple of guns. The chestnut blight, so the experts tell, is responsible now for the shortage of nuts, and this is their story they stick right to, regardless of differing if's and buts. Legal Battle Starts In Chicago Court To Keep Judge From Sentencing Capone

DEFENSE MOTION HELD OVER FOR DAY

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

FEDERAL BUILDING, Chicago, Oct. 23.—Al Capone's lawyers today began a new legal battle to save the super-gangster from a long penitentiary term on his conviction by a jury for violating the income tax laws.

For almost two hours this morning, counsel for Capone argued before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson on a motion for an arrest of judgment, contending that the indictment under which Capone was convicted last Saturday night was "substantially defective". They cited United States Supreme court decisions dating back to 1878 in support of their argument.

Judge Wilkerson took the defense motion under advisement until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

L. E. Block, chairman of the Inland Steel Company, stated that while there has not been sufficient business this month to cause an increase in the company's operations the declining trend in activities should be over as there are indications of a better feeling and more confidence.

SCHWAB DECLARES TIME HAS COME TO "SAIL INTO THE JOB" depression was that it taught American business it could no longer ignore the economy of other countries.

"Today we are a creditor nation and the prosperity of our international neighbors is necessary to our own well-being, he said.

He registered opposition to further supervision of private business by the government, to the overbuilding of the steel industry, to the dole. He pledged the steel industry as supporting any movement for permanent peace despite the business which might accrue from building navy vessels and armament.

Schwab pointed out that America was on the upward move last spring.

On Upward Move

"Our production curve had increased steadily from the first of the year,' he said. "Then came the breakdown of finances in Central Europe which spread to England and brought repercussions to our own shores."

Schwab termed the indifference to governmental costs as one of the worst features of American life.

He laid only partial blame for this on the politician.

"There is the waste of racketeering, the waste in countless bureaus, the extravagance in administration," he said.

Schwab expressed the regret of the steel industry for the necessity of recent wage cutting.

Regrets Wage Cuts

"We held to the old wage rates as long as our balance sheets would permit," he said. "But with the liquidation of prices and values in all directions it was necessary to yield to economic law."

He recommended to the institute a moratorium on all new building of plants "until such time as the need for added capacity is clearly apparent."

"It is wise to build ahead of needs. We shall require these vast facilities to the full. But this is the age of the moratorium. The world needs time to catch up, to adjust."

Urging the industry to continue selling campaigns, advertising, and improvement of production methods, Schwab declared:

"I believe in the continued growth of our country, the essential strength of the steel industry, and the ability of our nation to master the problems of a complicated age. "If this be optimism, make the most of it."

WORLD PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED BY HOOVER AND LAVAL

ferences are held to be too deep-seated for ready solution.

Neither Premier Laval nor President Hoover would admit having a definite program to offer the other today.

Here As Guest

The French statesman merely said that he was here as the guest of the American government to discuss world problems.

"I expect all of them will be discussed and some of them settled," Laval said to newspaper correspondents.

Administration spokesmen simply stated that there was no program, and that the discussions would be of a very informal nature. In this Laval concurred. He described his pending conversations as a "A tete-a-tete."

It was made very evident, however, that the thought uppermost in the French Premier's mind is to win over the United States to the old idea of entering into a "security pact," either through the agency originally proposed by Woodrow Wilson, or by implementing the Kellogg-Briand pact for the outlawry of war. This could be accomplished by the device known as a "Consultative pact," in which the signatory nations would agree to consult among themselves to determin the aggressor in the event of war.

Make Concessions

Given such a guarantee, the French are prepared to make material concessions in the way of disarmament and reparations. Without it, there is believed to be scant chance that France will concede anything in these matters.

Senate leaders have made it clear, however, to President Hoover that any such pact is foredoomed to rejection. Ten years ago the Senate Foreign Affairs committee rejected the Security pact to which President Wilson agreed at Versailles without even the formality of a vote. More recently, the Senate has declined to even consider "putting teeth" into the Kellogg-Briand pact.

Improve Relationship

Asked if he expected to accomplish "some tangible result" on his trip, or merely a more cordial relationship between Washington and Paris, M. Laval replied through an interpreter:

"If my sole purpose in coming to Washington was to improve the relationship between France and the United States then my trip was unnecessary."

Then, after alluding to the world problems that call for solution, he added:

"It is necessary to arrive at something definite and concrete."

Corps Of Experts

The French statesman, who brought a corps of twenty financial and armament experts with him, indicating that he expected to discuss "something tangible," faced a busy day when he arose this morning in the big house turned over to him by Ambassador Edge in Paris.

First on his program was the traditional visit to the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington. Next were formal calls on Vice President Curtis and Chief Justice Hughes.

After a lunch at the French embassy, the Premier and his daughter were due at the White House to become guests of the President and Mrs. Hoover. An afternoon of conference with the President was to be followed by an informal dinner at the White House, with the evening free to continue the afternoon's discussion.

Tomorrow M. Laval goes to Woodley as the guest of Secretary of State Stimson and for further conference. He plans to leave Washington Sunday night or early Monday, sailing the same night from New York to return to France.

the back and bruises on the body.

The car was driven by Miss Mary Alice Sample of Hawthorne avenue, Millvale. The other occupant was her mother, Mrs. Alice Sample. Mrs. Dixon, an aunt of the driver, was sitting in the rear of the sedan with Mrs. Sample, while the driver sat with Mrs. Baerlein, her grandmother.

State Highway Patrolmen who interviewed the driver at the hospital following the accident which occurred about 4 p. m., said an investigation would be conducted this afternoon by Corp. McGill of the Sharon sub station.

According to reports made to the hospital authorities, it is believed that the sedan carrying the four Millvale women toward Pittsburgh from Greenville had been sideswiped by another machine which had gone out of the line of traffic to pass ahead.

The Sample machine was forced to a ditch where it overturned. The women were extricated from the wreck by motorists and brought to the hospital. The driver, Miss Sample, and her mother, did not receive hospital treatment, but were slightly shaken by their experience.

The lots have been taken over and the deed transferred, but in order to have the matter done legally City Solicitor White said that a condemnation ordinance should be passed, which would then give the city a deed beyond all question of legality.

in the first of two inquiries into the responsibility for the deaths of Mrs. Judd's erstwhile chums, Agnes Ann Leroi, 30-year-old nurse and Hedwig Samuelson, 24, red-haired invalid school teacher.

Associated with Russill in a defense mapped for Mrs. Judd by her husband, Dr. William C. Judd, was Richard Cantillon, fiery youthful lawyer who defended William Edward Hickman, "The Fox," murderer here four years ago.

Expected To Surrender

Mrs. Judd, who has eluded the most widespread police net since the famous Hickman pursuit in 1927, was expected to surrender to Los Angeles authorities after the inquest had determined her status.

The alleged murderess has been missing since Monday afternoon when she vainly tried to claim the two trunks in which she assertedly shipped the bodies from Phoenix to Los Angeles. She is reported to be in hiding in or near Los Angeles or just below the Mexican border.

Two rewards, totaling $2,500, were offered this morning in Los Angeles for information leading to the arrest of Mrs. Judd, both by newspapers.

Husband Raises Fund.

Phoenix authorities asked Governor W. P. Hunt of Arizona to offer a reward.

Meanwhile in Los Angeles, Dr. Judd was said to be seeking means of raising a defense fund for his wife.

It is believed Mrs. Judd is without money to continue her flight. Dr. Judd is in reduced circumstances.

The witnesses for the inquest today were to be drawn from the list of persons who uncovered the crime by discovering the bodies.

Pair Sought Trunks.

W. V. Anderson, baggage master at the Southern Pacific station, was to be the principal witness. He reported to police that a woman and a young man, now known by authorities to have been Mrs. Judd and her brother, Burton J. McKinnell, 22, a college student, tried to claim the trunks but he refused to honor Mrs. Judd's claim checks.

Stella Conway, an attendant in the women's rest room at the station, described the finding of a suit case and a hat box in the rest room. The suitcase was later found to contain parts of the body of Miss Samuelson and the hat box contained a .25 caliber automatic pistol, some cartridges, several exploded shells and a set of surgical knives.

Other witnesses were police detectives, who opened the trunks, the autopsy surgeons who examined the bodies, and Judd and McKinnell.

Tips Decrease.

The flood of "hot tips" from persons who thought they recognized the "phantom defendant" diminished to a trickle immediately after word flashed through the state last night that Mrs. Judd's husband was arranging for a defense.

Speculation as to the motive of the murder continued to revolve about the alleged maniacal rage of Mrs. Judd against the two one-time "pals" over their "boy friends", a good looking single doctor at the Grunow clinic and a wealthy "playmate" who bought the girls drinks and presents.

William J. Burns, the internationally famous crime investigator, continued to find evidences of an inordinate affection between Miss Leroi and Miss Samuelson, and between Msr. Judd and Miss Samuelson, and in this tangle of "positives and a negative" as he termed the women, saw the motive for the jealous act.

The Judds were married while both worked at an insane asylum, and then began a queer nomadic life.

At least a dozen Mexican towns, mining and lumber camps knew them as a sort of itinerant doctor and nurse. Mrs. Judd, however, never had a nursing certificate, and got jobs at hospitals largely on her reputed ability to "sell her personality".

Crimonologists said this ability, and also Mrs. Judd's often noticed habit of losing friends after she made them, were phases of a "maniacal depressive" character. A "maniacal depressive," according to psychologists, is one who is afflicted with a type of mental ailment that explodes in destructive rage, as a result of thwarted love or excesses in physical passion.

Mr. Hoover isn't the first. Every President has lost friends because of his inability to provide enough jobs.

Jobless "Senator"

Jospeh C. Land (above), a former Shreveport, La., contractor, recently sworn in as the U. S. Senator from Louisiana. Land took the position on the basis that the senatorship was vacant in view of the contention of Governor Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, Senator-elect, that he (Long) is not yet Senator. Land, who is jobless at present, declares Louisiana is entitled to two senators and that he needs the job.

IOWA TUBERCULIN BATTLE CONTINUES

surgents was dispersed last night by farm leaders who quietly went ahead with plans for immediate action if necessary.

Military officers continued to receive reports that the insurgents possess quantities of nitro-glycerine and that a sub-machine gun has been brought here to meet the soldiers when the testing begins. However, the farm leaders insist that their plans call for only "passive resistance."

Ed Eversman, son of the man on whose farm the objectors are encamped, declared that the farmers had no gun and would fight their battle in courts.

"Twelve leaders with me met in my father's house last night and worked out a plan of action," he said.

"We're going to win this thing."

DR. EDWARD H. GRIGGS TALKS TO CLUB WOMEN

"Honest Pessimism is a great deal better than dishonest optimism," said Dr. Edward Howard Griggs, noted lecturer of New York City is he spoke before the members of the Woman's Club Thursday afternoon in the Highland United Presbyterian church.

The regular meeting of the club began at 2:30 with Mrs. Albert Street in the chair and a few matters of routine business were transacted. Mrs. S. L. McCracken read a beautiful tribute to the memory of Mrs. P. H. Reider, one of the members who recently died.

Mrs. Street, who represented the club at the recent York convention, stated that she would give a report of the convention at the next meeting but gave this thought from the state, that one of the leaders stressed the points that during this time of depression that "the club women remain in the club" and that "they fall in line with all welfare work that is being carried on in their community."

The speaker of the afternoon, Dr. Edward Howard Griggs, who has appeared in New Castle a number of times, was introduced to the women by Mrs. F. C. Brenneman.

Dr. Griggs gave "Survey and Diagnosis of the Times" as his talk of the afternoon and he briefly went over the program of the United States since its infancy, dwelling more particularly on the last fifty years, when all great strides in civilization have been made.

He touched on the marvelous inventions of the age, telling to what advantage they could be used by the people and then sarcastically stated the humorous side of how these inventions were used, not to promote culture, but to speed up the age. He rambled from one topic to another, taking up the ideals of the American as that of wealth, speed, mass, production, quantity instead of quality, freedom and gave some pungent illustrations to stress his points.

He summed up his talk by saying that the period of depression, through which we are going is just a repetition of the aftermath of all wars, and a time to pay up all back debts and make a new start. He stated that public confidence must be restored in order to reestablish business upon the old basis.

Concluding his lecture Mrs. J. W. Humphrey, president of the Woman's Club of Ellwood City, brought greetings from her club.

Mrs. Robert McKinney White and Mrs. R. G. Maxwell were ushers for the afternoon.

Mrs. J. E. Tresher, chairman of the legislative committee of the southwestern district, will be the speaker at the meeting November 2.

Following play, the hostess served a dainty lunch, with the appointments being carried out in tones suggestive of the season. Later a business meeting was called and plans were made for a Hallowe'en party, which will be announced later.

Steele, Esther Thompson, Helen Neimi, Hazel Ryhal, Ardys Ryhal, Ludy Marchette, Mrs. Margaret Weiss, Elizabeth Kehna and Anne Johnson.

Section Masque

The home of Mrs. Jesse Dufford, Huron avenue, was a "spooky" place Thursday evening as the members of Section B of the Y. L. B. class of the Third United Presbyterian church assembled for a masquerade party.

Ghosts and witches peered from the corners, where corn stalks and autumn leaves formed dark shadows and the lights from the jack-o-lanterns threw an eerie light over the grotesque figures as they went through the rooms.

Games and music featured the evening and the prize for identifying the most persons was awarded Mrs. Floyd H. Reed.

The next regular meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Adrian Schultz of Mt. Jackson, November 18.

Queen Esther Rally

Thursday evening the Queen Esther Societies of the First, the Epworth, the Wesley and the Croton churches met in the dining room of the Epworth Methodist church for a fall rally.

THE TEACHER IS TARDY

ABOUT the time a man becomes old enough to understand that the way of the transgressor really is hard, and no joking, he finds that he is so old that nobody is even interested in his transgressions. So far as society is concerned he may keep right on transgressing if he is having any fun out of it. All of which is very humiliating to one who in youth and middle age has considered himself equally good in a 100-yard dash or a mile run.

People, he has found, feel perfectly safe to poke a dead snake.

Experience, of course, is the best teacher, but she begins her instructions so late in life that they are out of date before they can be put into practice, and then they are about as happy as the undertaker's stale joke with which he attempts to cheer up the family of the late lamented.

In youth we pay no attention to precepts, and in old age, when we are perfectly willing to heed them if they will cure our rheumatism, pay the grocer or get us back the money we've gambled away, we find that like the flowers which bloom in the spring, they have nothing to do with the case.

MAN LIVING LONGER

From time to time questions are raised about the lengthening of the span of human life, and the Biblical ages are frequently brought forward to disprove the point that man's average life is longer now than at any time in recorded history.

It is certainly questionable whether the term "years" used in the Bible had the same significance that is now attached to it. A Biblical year probably was much shorter than the year of the present calendar.

Old records found in Egyptians tombs indicate that the expectancy of life about 2000 years ago was only a little more than 30 years. The mortality rate among children and young adults was high. Among the Romans the expectancy of life was little better.

One of the first tables showing the expectancy of life was prepared by the astronomer Halley, best known for the comet bearing his name. Halley showed that the average span of life in the city of Breslau in 1691 was 33 years. In England in the middle of the eighteenth century it was 39 years.

Today the average American lives 58 years, due to the benevolence of public sanitation, medical science and better living and working conditions.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Calling upon the country to support him in the effort he is making to reduce the federal budget, the president said: "I have received the proposals of the high officials of the Navy for plans for reduction of expenditures. They are being considered in the full light of maintained efficiency of the department. Such studies and revisions are equally in progress in every other department of the government. The proposals of all the departments will require study and consideration. No conclusions have been reached on any particular proposed expenditure or economy. Final decision will not be reached until the final budget is presented to congress. All of the principal officers of the government are co-operating to bring about reductions. In times when the income of the people is reduced and when taxes or loans may stifle economic recovery there is only one course of sound fiscal policy, and that is to reduce the expenditure of the government to the last cent consonant with the obligations of the government.

"There are two great difficulties which confront us in programs of reduced expenditures. The first is the very large proportion of federal expenditures that are irreducible. We must meet interest payments on the statutory redemption of the public debt; we must pay allowances and pensions to veterans and pensions to civil servants, etc. Thus over two billion of the federal budget is in fixed obligations, and such reductions as we can bring about must need be concentrated on less than one-half of the budget.

"The second difficulty is that the federal government must make its contribution to expanded employment so long as the present situation continues.

"I fully realize that while governmental economy as a whole is strongly desired by the public, yet every variety of expenditure has its adherents throughout the country, all of whom are naturally solicitous that their special project should be continued even in times of national difficulty, and they are impatient of reduction or deferment or delays of their projects. Public opinion in support of drastic economies will need to reach into these directions. It must extend also to discouragement of special interests desirous of securing new expenditures for the special projects. The essential services of the government must and will be maintained but these are times when with the large deficit facing the country even meritorious projects can, and will be deferred."

ADVERTISING AS AN AID TO RECOVERY

The Advertising Federation of America, meeting in Chicago, urges an aggressive advertising and selling campaign to go "hand-in-hand" with President Hoover's $500,000,000 credit plan. The officials of the federation say that the president's programme will "relieve an unbearable credit situation," but that if merchants and manufacturers intend fully to profit by it they must create their markets.

It is a great opportunity, offering wonderful encouragement to American industry and business. Says the statement of the advertising experts: "Spending logically will achieve a steady and cheering decrease in the roster of those who are willing to work, but find no work to do."

While this pronouncement was being given out at Chicago, President Murphy of the Advertising Club of New York was giving voice to the same sentiments at a luncheon of the Poor Richard Club of Philadelphia. He pointed out that those concerns which have advertised new angles of their products have not felt the depression nearly so much as firms that are "advertising shy." He explained that a survey of advertising results had been made among ninety-seven companies taken at random. Sixty-two of them spent more for advertising in 1930 than they did the previous year. The others spent less. The average profits in both groups declined as a result of the general depression. Now the proof of the pudding comes in a significant fact. Those who reduced their advertising lost 55 per cent, while those that increased it lost only 29 per cent. A continuation of this survey into 1931 shows that the aggressive advertisers are still earning more in proportion than the others.

It is a demonstrated fact that intelligent advertising is one of the surest roads to prosperity. There is nothing more calculated to start a wide buying movement on the part of the consumers.

I Was Lost in a Maze Grandmother Found Me I Wish She Hadn't

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I was lost in a green maze.

Long ago, that was, when I was about 7 years old and going on 8.

It was a huge thing, that maze. It coverered several acres, I suppose, though it seemed at least a mile square to a small boy lost. Its walls were an evergreen hedge, thick and strong. You were supposed, somehow, to get to the center, and after you reached that spot to find your way out. It was easier to get out than to get in, but I didn't know that.' . . . I was lost in that immense green maze and that's all I knew.

I'd started with my grandmother and at first, as I remember, I'd allowed her to hold my hand. But then I grew adventuresome and impatient. I ran ahead and I lost myself completely. . . . I wandered frantically, here and there, and got nowhere. . . . Once I heard my grandmother on the other side of the hedge, but I could not reach her and she could not get to me. . . . I could see the blue sky up there, I could see birds flying overhead, but all I could see around me were those thick green walls—and I wanted to cry. Perhaps I did cry, but I'd rather not remember that part. Perhaps I remembered the little lost children in the wood who were covered with leaves by the birds. There I was—lost—and I'd probably starve to death in that sweet-smelling green maze in the park.

But at last my grandmother found me. . . . And I was very glad. . . . And she held my hand. . . And the two of us went here and there to the center of the maze and rested a while and then found our way out again It was exciting.

But just the same I wish she hadn't found me. I wish she'd turned back and left me to find my way out, all by myself. . . . She didn't—I suppose because she was afraid the fright might be bad for a small boy. . . . But now I think it would have been better for him to have made his own way out of that frightening maze. That would have given him confidence, made him wiser, taught him a lesson.

Because small boys—and small girls, too—grow older and get into mazes far more difficult than that one. And some are fair enough, but some are hideous; some are blossomy and green, but some are thorny and black. . . . And they have no grandmother then to find them and lead them out. Out of those mazes they must make their own way, and it's best for a child to learn not to be scared when he gets into a maze and doesn't know which way to turn. . . . That lesson will be very helpful to him . . . later on.

Just Folks

WINNING THE YOUNG

Were I a minister I think I'd waste no time on gray-beards old Whose lives are fixed and settled sure and could not fit a new shaped mold.
They've wearied of the world and sit contended with their bit of truth.
But if I dreamed of nobler things I'd seek to catch the ear of youth.

And if I wished to lead a charge against the shame and wrong men see,
I should not ask the smug-content to take up arms and follow me.
Old men with all their battles done, who've given the world long since their best,
Are satisfied with glories past and like too well their evening's rest.

I'd try to share my dreams with youth, for they are pliant, strong and bold,
And they are not afraid of change, and not too fond of customs old.
Their hopes are fresh, their aims are high, they're eager for adventures new;
And he who wins them for the Right real service to the world will do.

The old may sit and nod their heads, but all the sermons preached are vain.
They cannot change their ways of life; as they are now they must remain.
But youth the higher realms may reach; young minds to splendor can be won,
And he who leads a lad to truth the noblest work of man has done.

If a newspaper has any business at all, beyond that of printing the news, is it that of serving the community by calling attention to public matters that need attention. This duty is so well recognized that citizens who are distressed by some neglect usually call on the editor to make complaint. "The telephone service is rotten," they say; "please do something about it." As a matter of fact the service isn't, but we are making a point. The paper usually lends a hand, if the complaint is fair; yet when another citizen, say the owner of the telephone system, asks the paper to complain about noisy dogs owned by the man who fussed about the telephones, that gentleman is peeved. The paper is right while it serves your cause, but wrong when it reproves your offences. Public business is the business of all of us; and when a newspaper tries to serve the community by calling attention to things that need doing, everybody should be tolerant enough and public-spirited enough to accept the service gratefully instead of pouting because the complaint comes near home. Reduced Acreage Demanded As Part Of New Cotton Plan

Efforts Of Southern Bankers Lead Cotton States To Believe Better Conditions Assured, If Farmers Show Adequate Cooperation

Much is expected in cotton-growing States from the cooperation of Southern bankers, the American Cotton Cooperative Association and the Federal Farm Board in a plan for holding cotton off the market and in the hands of the farmers. It is pointed out, however, that the success of this movement must be dependent on reduction of acreage. Extension of credits is emphasized as the feature of the project.

"Whatever success the cooperatively supported holding movement obtains in keeping any considerable number of bales off the market," according to the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM, "will have a double effect. Not only will the actual holding afford a check to the runaway buyers' market, but the existence of the cotton in warehouses in the names of individual farmers will serve to hold down still further the acreage which these farmers will plant next year. Regardless of whether various statutory attempts to reduce the acreage may have effect or prove fruitless in themselves, the prospect is that the greatest year-to-year cut in cotton production ever recorded will take place next year. It is to the interest of the South, and to all the interests of the South, to retain as much as possible of the price gain which this reduction certainly will produce."

Believing that if this campaign should succeed, "a great deal might be expected of the acreage-reduction movement," the SAN ANTONIO EVENING NEWS sees an opportunity to "keep the 1931 crop temporarily off an unwilling market." The COLUMBIA (S. C.) RECORD points out that the proposal "to carry 7,000,000 bales of the country's market-breaking 16,000,000-bale crop over until next July has obvious virtues" in that "it offers a means of attaining orderly marketing in an hour heretofore distinguished only for hysteria and makes it possible that the grower and not the speculator shall be the beneficiary of price increases, if any." Adding that "another year's grace on cotton debts will do no good unless it means also that cotton production is decreased," The Record concludes: "To make the proposed credit extension contingent upon binding contracts with the farmers to reduce their production next year in proportion to the number of bales held over by the refinancing plan would be something more than a temporary gesture. It would be a long and logical step toward the elimination of the carryover surplus, and it is easy of attainment."

"If the 1932 crop is not held down to a minimum, there will be a recurrence of the same difficulty that is being experienced this year," advises the TEXARKANA GAZETTE, while the DALLAS JOURNAL, holding that the plan "is the most important and most promising holding movement yet attempted," adds that "the effectiveness will be largely determined by the planting of next year." The CHARLOTTE OBSERVER contends: "The only possible influence that could boost the price materially would be a substantial reduction of the present or prospective supply of cotton, and improvement in general business conditions that would put more money into circulation, give employment to the unemployed, and increase the buying power of the public, so as greatly to increase the consumption of cotton goods."

Quoting a cotton expert's statement that "cotton prices have reached the bottom," the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST says of the future: "There is certain to be some increase in demand, both from users and speculators. If this is followed by heavy curtailment by planters unable and unwilling to risk another year of five and six-cent cotton, prices will unquestionably rise. As world conditions improve and the demand broadens, which it must to care for even minimum replacement needs, prices will rise still higher. Eventually, the cotton situation, like others, will be back to normal, but it will not be as a result of any of the capers that Southern legislatures have been cutting recently or may cut in the future."

"Through the patriotism and energy of the Southern bankers and farmers," says the HOUSTON CHRONICLE, "the problem of the cotton surplus seems on its way to solution. The farm leaders, aided to some extent by the various legislatures, have made possible the opportunity for action by providing for a future cut in production. The Southern bankers will furnish the necessary action to give relief at the present time. A large part of the surplus will be effectually eliminated now rather than two or three years hence. Southern farmers consequently have good reason to expect a better price for what they produce this year and next year."

"The cotton market," observes the COLUMBIA (S. C.) STATE, "has been showing ability to respond promptly to news favorably affecting business sentiment; such as word from New Orleans of a seven-million-male hold-off until next July. Commodity markets, generally, developed a more confident tone during the first half of the month, as a result of the several plans to promote financial stability."

BIG TOWN BUSINESS METHODS

You may have had the experience of calling upon some official of a large city company who indicated that he had little time to spare you.

He tried to be courteous, but he did not fully succeed in this because of his evident desire for your departure.

You were hurt.

Coming from a smaller place you did not realize the importance of even a few minutes to the busy man in a responsible position in a big city.

True he may not work as many hours as you do in your home town.

But he does more business in a day than you do and at greater speed.

Those whose efforts depend upon his planning are delayed if he does not produce his work on schedule time.

The official in a large city is dynamic—has to be.

He has only one speed and that the fastest he can attain and still be accurate.

If you do business with his firm he can afford to give you more time but as a visitor—don't expect much from the metropolitan business man.

Even though an old friend of yours or the acquaintance of many years don't expect much and you won't be disappointed by the city business man.

MY NEW YORK

By JAMES ASWELL

By Central Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—H. G. Lane, executive editor of Britain's powerful Northcliffe newspaper chain, has been in New York recently on business. Some of his informal reactions to the town are interesting, because they were not uttered, as often is the case with visiting celebrities, while the boat was docking. In tow of a friend of mine, he made the following observations:

"The new Waldorf Astoria is beautiful; it is so artistic, in fact, that the management neglected to put up signs directing guests about. I had difficulty finding the lifts."

And on another occasion: "Do I wish to visit an American speakeasy? I should say not! I have been in one of the places before and there is nothing duller on earth."

Finally: "In a restaurant when you order tea they ask you whether you will have ice with it! And, failing, that, they give you lemon. Do Americans actually squeeze lemons into their tea?"

It is from such important trvia that people form impressions of a city.

STYLE

The impression of swank created by canopies in front of hotels, restaurants and theaters has had far-reaching effects. Now they are a common sight in all sections of the town—spread before everything from bargain sales in the Bowery to all-night drug stores on Tenth avenue. "The Tom Thumb Caravanserie," an open-air quick lunch and soda fountain in East Fourteenth street, has one of the doggiest of the curb awnings. "El" train passengers always squint at it with some perplexity as they are whirled past the intersection at First avenue. And there is a drug store a block from where I live whose canopy, recently installed, would do credit to a Park avenue wedding.

Religion Is Powerful Weapon To Use Against Economic Depression

By RAY O'MARA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BUFFALO, Oct. 23.—Religion as the only power capable of preserving civilization in the present economic crisis was pointed to here Thursday by the Rev. Dr. Frank D. Adams, Detroit, president of the Universalist general convention, in his annual message to delegates.

Rev. Adams, chairman of Mayor Murphy's committee on unemployment in Detroit, declared that "in this great crisis, world-wide and menacing, nothing can save us but religion."

Powerful Weapon.

"The only power capable of saving civilization and perpetuating the institutions upon which any decent human order of things may stand is a spiritual power," he said. "That power, however you may define or describe it is religion.

"It must be world-wide in scope. It must recognize the smaliness of the world as it exists today."

Rev. Adams declared that during the past four years the world has witnessed an almost unparalleled breaking up of religious alignments. He said that the church as an institution, an organized religion as represented by the church, have been subjected to attacks ranging from kindly criticisms of devotees to "savage onslaughts of avowed and outspoken foes."

Bull Starts Fire By Kicking Lantern

Emulates Mrs. O'Leary's Cow That Caused Great Chicago Fire

NEW LEBANON, Pa., Oct. 23.—Emulating Mrs. O'Leary's famous cow which kicked over a lantern and started the great Chicago fire of 1871, a bull in a barn owned by W. L. Crouser, near here, performed a similar stunt, resulting in destruction of the large structure with a loss of $10,000.

The owner of the barn and his son Fred were at work on their evening chores when the animal kicked the lantern. The stock was removed with difficulty, but the flames spread rapidly, enveloping the barn and its contents and consuming two silos. Farm machinery was saved, neighbors aiding in the work.

An explosion followed the crash of the lantern. The Crouser farmhouse was scorched, but volunteers kept it from destruction.

Do this for Your Child in

TWO WEEKS

How to rid any boy or girl of sluggishness or constipation and build a big appetite.

The trouble with children who will not eat is usually stasis. The symptoms are a tongue that's always coated, bad breath, poor color, dull eyes that are often a bilious yellow. No appetite, no ambition—even for play. Hard to get to sleep, hard to wake in the morning.

There's an absolute remedy for this condition. It gives listless youngsters the appetite and energies of a young animal! They eat! They gain! They keep well!

The California Treatment conquers Sluggishness

It's not the stomach, but the bowel condition that keeps children from eating. But the trouble is in the lower bowel—the colon. California fig syrup is the only "medicine" needed to stimulate the colon muscles. The very next day, your child is eating better and feeling better. Keep on with the fig syrup a few days and you will see amazing improvement in appetite, color, weight and spirits.

Any drugstore has the real California fig syrup, all bottled, with directions. Nature never made a nicer acting or nicer tasting laxative. (It is purely vegetable.) Remember California fig syrup when sickness, a cold or any upset has clogged a child's bowels.

WARNING

Even when it's something to give children, some stores will try to substitute. So be sure the bottle says CALIFORNIA Fig Syrup.

Alleged 'Pickup' Man Is Arrested

"Chicago" Joe Moroski Taken From Auto On Youngstown Hill By Police

City and county police declare that the alleged "pickup" man for the stock exchange numbers "racket" headquarters of the Beaver Valley and this district is now in the local county jail after his arrest early yesterday afternoon on a charge of operating a lottery.

Joe Moroski of Mahoning avenue, New Castle, and also of Youngstown, was placed under arrest on State street hill, at the city line by County Detective Lee and Patrolman Clarence Campbell. He is known here as "Chicago Joe" police say.

Moroski's car, a Ford coupe, traveling in the direction of Youngstown, was stopped by the officers. Moroski had with him an unidentified colored man who had been given a "lift."

Authorities say they found about 400 tickets for the stock numbers pool and $109 in cash, in the car. Moroski was arraigned before Alderman W. E. Marshall who held the defendant in bail of $500 for a hearing to be held next week. He was placed in county jail in default of the bail.

The arrest of Joe followed a tip to County Detective Lee's office that a "racket" man was traveling thru this vicinity. Moroski, authorities say, was the "pickup" man who traveled over the district, thru the Beaver Valley to New Castle, winding up at Youngstown, the headquarters of the stock numbers racket in this part of the country.

The prisoner was released from county jail last night after a cash bond of $500 had been produced for him to await a hearing before Alderman Marshall. The date for the hearing has not been set, Marshall said today.

Pinchot's Idea Behind Special Session Puzzles

Capitol Hill Speculating On What Position Governor Will Occupy After Session

PRESIDENCY BOOM HAS BEEN ENHANCED

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Oct. 23.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot's aspirations and aims in calling the special session of general assembly to deal with unemployment relief, or whether any such aspirations exist beyond the impersonal purposes of state, are providing the political speculators on Capitol Hill with plenty of speculation.

The extra-session method of attacking the ills of unemployment has suffered but little challenge. In many quarters it has been hailed as an aggressive move which may lead the state from the industrial doldrums into the trade-winds of renewed activity.

What Position?

While comment is audible on many of the cure-all bills expected to be laid before the legislature, there is one question that overshadows all other speculation. That question is: "What will be the governor's position at the conclusion of the special session?"

Whether the legislature favors the administration sponsored "prosperity bond" proposal or enacts any other form of unemployment relief or whether it is unable to agree on any measures to be taken by the state, those credited with astuteness in politics are pointing out that Governor Pinchot has nothing to lose, no matter which way the tide turns.

It was evident, months ago, that Governor Pinchot was contemplating a summons to the legislators to meet in special session. At that time, however, no concrete proposal had been advanced and Governor Pinchot invaded other territory to bring upon himself the national spotlight by urging in two speeches —one at Detroit and the other at Sedalia, Mo.—that President Hoover convene a special session of congress to provide federal aid for unemployed.

Advocates Relief.

Thus, the governor placed himself before the nation as advocating relief, and quick relief, for the hungry and jobless. When he announced the special session recently, more attention was riveted on Pennsylvania.

It is on ths premise that political seers are basing their predictions that after the official proclamation goes out to the legislators and the gavels' call to order resounds in legislative chambers on November 9, legislative currents may run in any direction—or remain stagnant—and the governor's shoulders will not be burdened with responsibility for any faux pas.

Should his prosperity bond issue be approved, it will be hailed as a victory for the administration. Should it fail of approval and another measure be enacted against his wishes, the argument will be advanced that the legislature failed to support the executive in his proposed solution of the unemployment problem.

Visits Brookhart.

Political commentators here recall the New York state legislature, not inclined to be over-friendly to former Governor Alfred E. Smith, whose repudiation of the governors' policies resulted in national interest in the Albany situation. Smith's domination of his party and his nomination for the presidency followed.

Hastiness in putting the skids under forecasts dealing with Governor Pinchot and the 1931 Republican national convention has been replaced here by a policy of "watchful waiting". His visit to Washington recently and reputed informal chats with independent G. O. P. leaders have been chronicled with more than mere passivity.

Significance was attached especially to the visit of Governor Pinchot to Senator Smith W. Brookhart, Iowa progressive, who is reported as looking kindly on Pinchot's aims.

On Sunday, too, Pinchot will be away from his home state. A Long Island group will hear him discuss unemployment relief. This will mark his third effort to place his relief policies before the nation by speaking outside the commonwealth.

Money Hoarding Retards Recovery

Business Readjustment Is Quickening Big Institution Believes

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 23.—Recent developments in the financial and business situation seem to indicate that deflation and readjustment is nearing completion, and that where these processes have been fully accomplished, activities already are beginning to quicken, says the Union Trust Co., Cleveland.

One of the factors retarding recovery, the bank declares, is the hoarding of money by many people throughout the country. This tendency is compelling banks to maintain more cash on hand than normal.

"As long as this condition obtains," says the bank in its magazine Trade Winds, "banks naturally cannot lend to individuals or businesses as large a proportion of their assets as they could in normal times. Money hidden under floor boards or buried in the garden does no good to any body. It does not turn the wheels of a factory or meet employment payrolls.

"Lack of confidence and courage, more than any other thing, delays actual progress today. It is for this reason that the president's recent proposal for the organization of a National Credit Corp., which may enable the banks to convert into immediate cash assets not now rediscountable at the Federal Reserve, is of special importance."

Some of the recent favorable developments in business, it is pointed out by the bank, included an increase in car loadings, higher volume of building awards in September, a decrease in commercial failures for September, and reports from various sections of the country of a large volume of retail business whatever retail prices have been cut to conform to wholesale price levels. Concluding, the bank says:

"Let us hope that from now on people will pay less attention to rumors and more to established facts and statistics, that business men will spend less time on worry and more time on work; and that we may recover in the near future a well grounded faith in the ability of the banks and the industries of this country to emerge successfully from this depression just as they have emerged successfully from every depression in the past and as they will do this time."

Pittsburgh Officials Ask Maryland To Hold Orphan Jones, If Acquitted

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23.—Orphan Jones, alias Yuel Lee, negro slayer of four members of the family of Green Davis near Berlin, Md., was believed by police here today to have been paroled in Pittsburgh on a minor charge under the name of James Majors.

Pittsburgh police wired officials in Maryland to hold the 60-year old negro if he is acquitted of the Davis slayings.

J. C. Coulter, probation official, said that information and fingerprints received from the National Identification Bureau at Washington, D. C., would tend to identify Jones as the James Majors who was paroled here.

U. S., New Figures Show, Takes First Rank In Naval Aviation

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The American policy of maintaining two separate air forces, one each for the army and navy, has provided this nation ranking fourth as a world air power, first place in the world of naval aviation.

American naval fleets could steam over the high seas in case of an emergency today equipped with a flying auxiliary superior to any in the world, according to figures compiled here, published and endorsed as authentic by army air corps officials.

As a world power in aviation the United States ranks after France, Great Britain and Italy. But this country is far and away ahead of the rest of the world in naval aviation.

Naval officers attributed the striking superiority directly to the policy of separate land and sea air forces. Army circles have long sought establishment of a single, separate aviation arm of defense independent of the army or navy, pleading crowded ranks and slow advancement under the present system.

A total of 776 fighting planes are today available for service with the American navy, according to the newly published figures. France, whose combined air force rivals that of all Europe, could put but 515 planes into the air with her navy on short notice.

Little Japan, with an air force ranking last as a world aerial power, and the only nation with an army-navy aviation policy similar to that of the United States, attained third place in naval aviation. She could place 492 planes into service with her fighting vessels. Considering routine tactical naval aviation alone, Japan ranks second to the United States.

Routine tactical duty in the navy makes use of 426 American fighting planes. The Japanese organized air navy totals 254 planes. Italy ranks third, with 238 planes regularly attached to her navy, Great Britain fourth with 238, France fifth with 193, and Russia, rapidly increasing as a world air power, last with but 140 airplanes attached to her naval forces.

Both this country and Japan elected to put most of their faith in pursuit planes attached to the navy, but America and France have gone in pretty strong for heavy bombers. Great Britain, on the other hand, has a number of light bombers attached to her sea fighting units, but has not a single so-called heavy-bomber.

The United States has 64 heavy bombers, capable of dropping tons of high explosives on enemy warships, attached to the navy. France has followed suit in this policy, and with a naval air force ranking fifth has elected to attach 34 heavy bombers to its fighting ships.

Great Britain's navy bombing unit consists entirely of light bombers, 36 in number.

The British naval air fighting unit attains somewhat more strength than is seen at first glance, however, officials here pointed out. They cited the fact that the British empire has a number of commercial vessels capable of development into air transports on short notice. With a little notice, they declared, Great Britain could load her entire royal air force aboard her six plane carriers and auxiliary boats and take an efficient air fighting unit anywhere in the world.

School-Trained Engineers Found The Better Paid

Earn $500 A Year More According To Statistics

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Engineers trained in technical colleges earn approximately $500 more per year than men with inferior training between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-five, according to a report of a survey of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Men with the engineering B. S. degree continue to hold this lead over sub-collegiate and none-technical men even in the later age groups, the report declares.

"After fifty-five" the report continued, "men with graduate training earn less than men with standard engineering school training, possibly due to the fact that they tend to stay in strictly research positions and do not become executives.

"Apart from teaching and railroads," the report asserts, "it makes relatively little difference what industry a man goes into. If, however, he cannot combine with his technical skill a generous capacity to deal with and manage men and affairs, either as a manager of some branch of work in an industrial organization or as man managing his own business as a consultant, his chances of earning a high salary are reduced."

"After fifty-five we have adequate figures on only five industries. Consulting and machinery manufacturing give the largest earning. Non-metal manufacturing drops off distinctly, but does not reach as low a level as power machinery manufacturing. Meanwhile academic earnings pass those in power machinery manufacturing, and equal those in none-metal manufacturing.

"Teaching shows a somewhat lower earning power than technical work between the ages of thirty and forty, and a distinctly higher earning power above fifty-five."

"Managers, consultants, and teachers show little falling off in old age," the report says, "but designers, research men, and technical operating men show an age drop after fifty."

"Regardless of whether the grouping is by type of technical function or by managerial and non-managerial and consulting earnings, and all others is so great as to suggest the importance to young men well trained in engineering, of seeking to add to their engineering abilities some capacity for dealing with people or for managing organizations or business."

Brakes Let Go And Car Runs Into Porches

Damage Is Done In Several Accidents Reported On Streets Here

A. W. Mercer of R. D. No. 4, reported that he was operating the car of J. E. Rodgers of Franklin avenue, Thursday afternoon, having it parked at East Main and Mulberry streets, while he was in a house, when the brakes let go and the machine started down the hill. It hit and damaged the porches of the properties of Walter Reynolds, 717 East Main street, and Catherine McGown, 715 East Main street.

W. H. Stuart of Volant, reported Thursday that he was enroute south on South Mercer street and was making a left hand turn onto South street, when his machine collided with that bearing Pennsylvania license 347AE enroute west on South street. Both machines were damaged.

Nathan Gilles of 119 West Washington street, reported Thursday that he was enroute north on Highland avenue and making a turn to go west on Edison avenue, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 96B5 enroute in the same direction, hit and damaged his machine.

AUTO DAMAGE CASE IS STILL ON TRIAL

The case of Joseph A. Cecce, and Anna F. Cecce of Chicago against W. R. Stewart of Rose Point, for damages growing out of an automobile accident on the New Castle-Butler road near the intersection of the Princeton road, is still on trial before Judge R. L. Hildebrand today. Mrs. Cecce claims Stewart made a left hand turn to go south toward Princeton, as she was going east on the Butler road. Her car was struck. Stewart claims that he gave notice of his intention to turn but the Cecce car did not slow up. Evidence showed that there is a clear vision for several hundred feet on either side of the Princeton road.

INQUIRE INTO MILLS' STATUS

Ask For Statement Of Company Carrying Compensation Insurance

City Council is not yet satisfied with the status of Charles F. Mills, who is serving as a fireman but whose salary is held up pending a decision as to whether or not he was legally apointed. Council had asked that the company carrying the Workmen's Compensation insurance advise them who would be responsible in case Mills was injured while on duty, pending the settling of his case.

City Clerk Cordelia Zeigler Jones read a communication from the McBride-Shannon company which said that it was their opinion that in the event of injury, the case would go to the Workmen's Compensation Board, and that the company would abide by the decision of that body.

Wants Company's Word

"Is this the statement of the McBride-Shannon Company or the company they represent," asked Councilman Reeves.

"It is the statement of McBride-Shannon" said Mrs. Jones.

"That is not what we wanted," said Reeves. "The request was for a statement from the company they represent. Representatives of companies can be wrong and we want to know definitely that the position of the insurance company is."

Upon motion the matter was referred back to the McBride-Shannon Company with the request that they get a statement from the insurance company they represent.

Aged Parents Of Trunk Murder Suspect Stand By Accused Child

By JACK CEJNAR
Central Press Correspondent.

DARLINGTON, Ind., Oct. 23.—"Trouble has come, but I have faith in God. He has never failed me."

With these simple words of faith, Rev. Harvey J. McKinnell, 72-year-old retired minister, laid down his axe at the woodpile in the back yard of his cozy little home here and went to call "Mother".

He had just been informed for the first time that his only daughter, Winnie Ruth Judd, 26, was wanted in connection with a horrible double trunk murder in Los Angeles, Cal., and that his only son, Burton, 25, was in jail.

Believe There's Mistake.

"I am sure there is some mistake about this," he said.

A moment later he led out his wife Carrie, 69, a pale, trembling woman, shrinking from some terrible news which she instinctively felt was coming. The wife, and mother, also leaned on her faith in God when the blow struck.

"My little girl is innocent," she whispered. "She'd have to tell me herself that she was guilty before I'd believe it and I wouldn't believe it then."

They stood there in the yard of their home, where their yellow cottage, trimmed in green, peeped forth from the spirea bushes, and clinging to each other, demanded:

"Tell us all you know."

It was a short account that was given them—of the discovery of two trunks in a railroad station in Los Angeles, of the mutilated remains of two women found in the trunks, of the identification of the victims as Miss Hedvig Samuelson and Mrs. Agnes Leroi, of how a young woman answering the description of their daughter had tried to get the trunks.

"We hear regularly from our daughter," the aged pastor said. "Her last letter came only ten days ago. She has never mentioned any people by these names. I am positive there is some mistake. We can wait only until we hear from her and trust in God."

"Our girl isn't capable of committing such a crime," the mother cried. "She always has been a good girl and always has been good and dear to me."

To Aid Daughter.

"Nothing can shake my belief that our children are innocent of this awful crime," Rev. Mr. McKinnell said. "We will do everything we can to help our daughter and our boy."

The McKinnell home at Darlington, Ind., and inset, the Rev. Harvey J. McKinnell, Ruths' father.

Questioning of the parents disclosed that their only income consisted of a $250 annual pension paid by the church. They own their little home, valued at $1,000, but there is a mortgage of $600 on it.

"If Ruth needs the money, I'll gladly put another mortgage on the home to help her," the old clergyman said. "They are our children and we'll stand by them."

The Rev. Mr. McKinnell was retired nine years ago. He had been in the ministry 40 years.

Mrs. McKinnell, whose health has not been good since a nervous breakdown three years ago, sat down on the edge of the porch and hid her face in her hands. Her husband trying to console her, helped her into the house, where she took to her bed. They were praying for their daughter, Ruth, far away, when the correspondent left.

Mrs. Judd was married to Dr. Willaim E. Judd at Lafayette, Ind., in 1924. She is a former student of the Free Methodist college at Greenville, Ill., and when her father was active in church work she taught his Sunday school classes.

Young Mrs. Judd, then Miss McKinnell, became a student nurse at the Southern Indiana State Hospital for the Insane in Evansville, Ind., in 1923. She worked there in the officials' kitchen.

Dr. Judd was on the staff there for a year. He left prior to the resignation of Miss McKinnell.

Dr. Judd went to Lafayette, Ind. Miss McKinnell also went there and worked as a telephone operator.

The two were wed in Lafayette seven months after Miss McKinnell moved there—on April 18, 1924.

Dr. Judd gave his birthplace as Gibson, Neb., March 31, 1883. Miss McKinnell said she was born at Oxford, Ind., not far from Lafayette, on Jan. 29, 1905.

What Does Cooking Do To Foods?

Latest Research On Diet Cited By Dr. Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

What does cooking do to food? Does it make it less nutritious? Does it make it less digestible? (Nutritious and digestible, though often used interchangeably, are not the same. Digestible means the ease with which food is broken up in the digestive system. Nutritious means the completeness with which the food can be incorporated into the body tissues or burned in the muscles.)

There are, of course, a great many crank ideas on the subject. One is that raw food is nature's food, it is primitive man's food, and primitive man was healthier than we are, and that was on account of raw food. Of course, this is purely theoretical. From all that we know about primitive man he was less healthy than the average American city dweller today. One statement frequently made is that primitive man was not constipated. But in refutation of this, one of the oldest medical writings we have, going back to before the days of Moses and Homer, has a prescription for castor oil and many other purges and cathartics.

One healthy thing that cooking does is to destroy bacteria. Unfortunately, it also destroys most of the vitamins at the same time. The vitamins, however, can easily be replaced and are so replaced in any ordinary meal.

There is no question that cooking is a great advantage for starchy foods. For some of these, such as rice, it is practically a necessity. The water and heat swell and soften the starchy grains and render them much more digestible. Most vegetables are included in this class—potatoes, beans, peas, etc.

The latest researches by Clifford of London on the digestibility of meat show that meat in a raw condition is least digestible. When meat is roasted or grilled to the point where it is just red inside and and shows a moist surface, it was found to be most digestible. If meat is overcooked, however, it is least digestible.

Meat has certain chemicals in its substance which are antagonistic to the digestive juices. Light cooking destroys these and, therefore, leaves the meat in more digestible condition than when raw. But if the cooking is carried to the point where the substance is hardened and tough, it is in the least digestible state.

As to primitive man eating raw meat, it is quite possible that Charles Lamb's "Dissertation on Roast Pig" explains him. He probably did not eat meat to any extent until he had learned to cook.

Raw eggs are much less digestible than when cooked.

Questions from Readers

Miss M. A.: "1. Would the constant use of about one-fourth glass of senna tea, taken internally every night to relieve chronic constipation, tend to become a habit?

"2. Would long use prove harmful?

"3. Are there instances where the use of the tea has helped cure a severe case of constipation?"

Answer: Any cathartic drug tends to become a habit, in the sense that the patient becomes dependent on it and requires a larger dosage. They are not, however, habit forming drugs in the same sense that alcohol or morphine are. I have known cases where prolonged use of senna has caused intestinal spasms and thus done harm, but not permanent or serious harm. Senna will not cure constipation, only relieve it temporarily, and in fact, prolonged use tends to make the constipation worse.

POLICEMAN AMAZED, SUPPER REFUSED BY UNEMPLOYED GROUP

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23.—Police Sergeant Patrick Tierney is wearing a puzzled expression these days.

He took up a collection to buy ten tickets to a church dinner which he planned to present to ten of the unemployed that frequent the municipal building.

When ten homeless men had gathered about the municipal hearth, Sergeant Tierney made his offer of a nice, hot supper awaiting the hungry ones at the church.

His offer was flatly refused and no reasons were forthcoming.

Victors are the ones who lend money to the loser so he can pay reparations.

The Central Christian Church was first organized as a mission Sunday School of the First Christian Church in 1894. In 1896, the church was organized and I. H. Durfee was called to be the first minister. His pastorate extended over a period of seven years. He was succeeded by W. D. Trumbull, who remained as pastor of the congregation for a period of two years. He was in turn succeeded by F. M. Biddle, who was the pastor for three years. A. H. Jordan began his work May 1, 1908. A. W. Bauman who was one of the officers of the congregation in its inception is still today one of the leading officers and members of the congregation. He served as deacon and also as clerk of the congregation in the earlier period of the church and is today superintendent of the Bible School. Rail Heads And Employes Fail On Agreement

Three Proposed Means Of Slashing Expenses On Pennsy Railroad Rejected

THREE REGIONAL MEETINGS PLANNED

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23.—A conference between representatives of the clerical forces of the Pennsylvania railroad and officials representing the road's management failed to arrive at any decision on three proposed steps to reduce the overhead expenses in these departments, it was announced today.

The conference was adjourned and it was decided to hold three regional meetings at which employes can discuss further the plans offered by the company. It was proposed at the conference here, attended by about 75 employes that either the clerical force be reduced, that employes reduce their working hours without pay or that salaries be reduced.

No Agreement.

No agreement could be reached on any of the three proposed remedies. The western region delegation decided to hold its conference in Chicago and the eastern region employes will discuss the question at Philadelphia. The central region employes remained in Pittsburgh for further conferences.

The clerical forces two months ago agreed to work two days less each month without pay but this measure failed to result in any great economy for the railroad, according to officials.

The railroad cannot reduce wages of its union employes without voluntary consent of the union but the clerical forces, although operating as a union group, are not included under the ruling of the railroad labor act.

Fear Of Mine Disasters Fade

Safety Devices Has Lessened Much Of The Danger

WASHINTGON, Oct. 23.—The awful fear of being crushed and buried alive, or blown to death, with which coal mines have constantly threatened their workers, is being alleviated by rapidly improving safety records.

There were 838 fatalities for the first seven months of 1931 as compared with 1,159 for the corresponding period of the preceding year, a reduction of 27.7 per cent. The production of coal, however, was reduced 16.2 per cent, accounting for a part of the safety record gains. Scott Turner, director of the United States Bureau of Mines, said he looked to a year with less than 1,450 fatalities, a figure lower than any year since 1922, in which 1,984 were killed. Record has been made since 1906.

There was a decrease in the death rate under every one of the five main causes of accidents in coal mining, Turner reported—namely, falls of roof or coal, haulage, gas or dust explosions, explosives and electricity. There were only four major explosion disasters, with a death toll of 46 in 1931 period, as against seven, reporting 88 deaths, in 1930. Turner likewise pointed to the absence of a catastrophe since January 28, the longest period of immunity in bituminous coal mines in 30 or more years.

BIBLE NOTE REVEALS WHITE HOUSE BIRTH

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Oct. 23.—Rev. John P. Thompson, a pioneer Indiana minister, was born in the White House, according to a note on a Bible possessed by his great great grandson, Dawes Thompson, living here.

Rev. Thompson was the state's first Christian church pastor, serving at Flat Rock.

His father was employed as a carpenter in remodeling of the White House. He and his wife were unable to find living quarters in Washington, so they accepted an invitation to live at the White House until the work was completed. The son was born while they were there.

Discovers "87"

Dr Jacob Papish, professor of spectrocophy at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., has announced he has discovered element 87. The element has been missing from the atomic chain ever since the chain itself was compiled. Its discovery leaves only element 85 still missing. Element 87 is the most sensitive known to life. One of the benefits of its discovery will be to render more sensitive photo-electric cells.

Workmen Narrowly Escape Death As Big Crane Topples

Half Dozen Workmen In Pittsburgh Have Close Call As Crane Slides In Creek

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 23.—Half a dozen laborers barely missed being crushed to death today when a 50-ton traveling crane working on construction of the north side, West End bridge at West Carson street, toppled 20 feet into Sawmill Creek.

Frank J. Kubik, the engineer, leaped to safety as the crane fell.

He said the accident was caused by the breaking of one of the crane's "crawlers," the caterpillar-tractor device on which the machine travelled, as it was lifting a two-ton stone which swung the crane suddenly over the creek bank.

Prisoners To Be Guarded By Dogs

New Penitentiary To Have Quota Of German Police Dogs

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 23.—The dog, long rated as the best friend of man in the animal kingdom, is now considered the worst enemy of men who are prisoners at the Eastern state penitentiary.

Out at the new penitentiary at Gratersford, a detail of police dogs will be on constant duty to prevent escapes.

The experiment of using German shepherd dogs as watchmen at the prison has been so successful that authorities expect to reduce the number of armed guards at the new institution and substitute dogs as guardians of the men.

At the present time three dogs assist in patrolling the walls surrounding the prison. Within two weeks five more animals will reach Gratersford from Switzerland and, after a five-week period of intensive training, will release five guards for other duties.

The intensive training period is to impress the fact on the dog that "obedience to his master" is his only duty.

ASKS FOR VOUCHER

City Solicitor Robert M. White today asked council for a voucher covering tax liens on properties on Liberty and Clayton streets which had expired, covering properties taken over by the city. When the sewer connections were made in these streets some of the property holders forfeited small parcels of land over the liens placed against the properties. The total amount of liens was $598.92.

Bridge Plans Are Given Approval

Acting Secretary Of War F. Trubee Davison Approves Vandergrift Bridge

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Acting Secretary of War F. Trubee Davison today approved plans for the construction of a bridge across the Kiskiminitas River at Vandergrift, Pa., at a point 11 1-10 above the mouth of the river.

The War Department overruled objections which had been made that the clearances of the proposed bridge were not sufficient for prospective navigation, if and when the river should be improved.

A public hearing was held at which these objections were given consideration. It was found there is no existing navigation on the river, and it was believed improbable that any project for improvement of the stream would be carried out.

Paris Goes Back To French Names

(International News Service)

PARIS, Oct. 23.—The craze for using English signs, notices and advertisements is gradually giving way to the native tongue and found to be even necessary inasmuch as the great majority of visitors to the French capital this season have been French people from the provinces instead of American and English tourists.

The Frenchman is coming into his own again. Up in Montmartre the "White Horse Tavern" has once more become "Le Cheval Blanc."

The French "tailor" is once more a "tailleur" and the "dressmaker" a couturiere."

A certain "United States Hotel" is now under the old sign of the "Hotel de France" and serves "petits dejeuners." "Dejeuners' and "Gouters" instead of 'Breakfasts," "luncheons" and "five o'clock tea."

Seek Information On Pennsylvania History In London

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 23.—An extensive hunt by the Western Pennsylvania Historical Survey will extend to London and Paris in nope of uncovering yellowed letters and diaries that may contain material to reconstruct the story of this state

Dr. Solon J. Buck, director of the historical society and head of the survey says that much of the early story lies in such old letters and diaries.

The society contemplates a thorough study of the western section of Pennsylvania, and aims to increase its membership by making people of the Pittsburgh district conscious of its past.

Struggles between England, France and the colonists to retain possession of the forks of the Ohio river at Pittsburgh leads to the belief that material will be found in the two foreign cities.

Besides being the gateway to the far west, Pittsburgh was the center of the industrial revolution. Coal, gas, iron and transporation all combined to make it so.

A purchaser of jewelry remarked that the firm which sold him a gold ring had apparently gone off the gold standard some time previous.—The Hartford Times.

Marriages In England Hit By Action On Gold

Many Romances Are Being Blasted By Hard Times

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The depression is blasting many romances.

More than one hundred marriage licenses were cancelled in London within one week after Great Britain went off the gold standard.

The would-be bridegroom usually explained that in view of increased taxation and the need for additional economy he did not think it fair to the bride to marry her.

Instead, he took back the money he paid for the license.

Most of the cancellations come from young couples Older people, on the other hand, marry more often now than ever before.

Old bachelors going romantic after fifty have doubled since the beginning of the century. Brides between fifty-five and sixty have doubled in the last ten years.

Here are the figures:

Bridegrooms over fifty-five—1913, 6,276: 1931 (estimated) 10,349.

Brides over fifty-five—1913, 2,611: 1931, 4,690.

Among the bridegrooms last year were ninety four bachelors over seventy years of age and three were over eighty.

Among the happy brides last year were 354 over seventy years of age—all widows.

No bride, however, confessed to more than eighty summers, which presumably established the limit to woman's romantic age.

One reason why older couples marry more frequently is the fact of course, that they did not have a chance to mary when young because of the same lack of financial services which induced the above-mentioned couples to cancel their marriage licenses.

But an additional clue as to how crusty old bachelors are lead into marriage is provided by Mrs. D. D. Cottingham-Taylor, teacher and lecturer on domestic science and author of many books on food wisdom.

Husbands are much better fed today than they used to be, she finds.

"I think that the modern girl is taking a very much greater interest in cooking than the pre-war girl who was rather out for a good time" she says. "The average girl of today loves a good time, too, but she also wants to know how to cook and run a home. Daughters of people from all ranks of society are being taught to cook Cookery lessons are crowded."

Love still goes through the stomach.

Reed And Davis Are Invited To Peace Sessions

Senators James J. Davis And David A. Reed Will Go To Harrisburg

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 23—United States Senators David A. Reed and James J. Davis today were invited to attend the Pennsylvania State Conference on world peace to be held here on Monday and Tuesday.

The session is intended to arouse public opinion in favor of entrance of the United States to the world court. About 350 delegates from 37 state organizations are expected to attend.

Officers of the conference pointed out that the nation would have a voice in the world disarmament conference at Geneva if the Senate approves the protocols necessary for world court participation.

Invention "Father" Is Correct Term

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 23.—"Mother of invention" is the wrong term; it should have been "father", for the male is still far ahead of the female in inventions, it was revealed at the International Exhibition of Inventions, which recently closed at Central Hall, Westminster. There are 400 men exhibitors and only 20 women.

Perhaps the most interesting brain product shown is a clock which wakes the sleeper, switches on an electric kettle, makes tea, and then rings again, to make sure the sleeper is awake.

Another clock is linked to a phonograph, so that the sleeper is awakened by music, instead of a bell.

A new golf iron with no sharp edges is designed to delight the heart of the ground-keeper as well as the player.

Among the inventions shown by women are a new knitting machine and a portable wire crockery rack.

Stoves! Stoves! Rescue Mission!

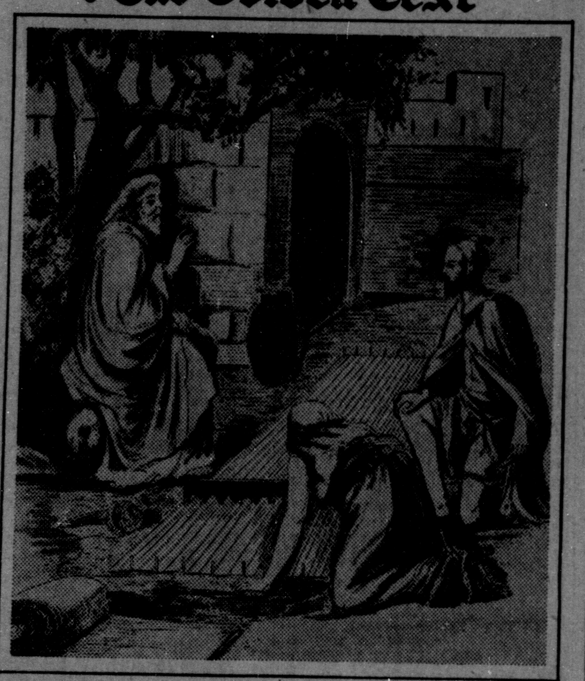
Once again the Rescue Mission is appealing for any kind of heating stoves, especially coal stoves, for the needy of the city. The mission has dozens of calls every day from the needy of the city for something to keep away the winter's cold.

In addition to the stoves the mission can make use of any kind of clothing. The women's sewing classes make over and repair garments sent in so as to meet the needs of the families.

Refuelling Courage

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text



Now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.—I Corinthians 13:13.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

Paul had a profound appreciation of the strategic importance of the great cities of his day, and of the wisdom of planting the church in them as centers for the evangelization of the empire. From Berea he went on to Athens where he even made bold to preach Christ to the Athenian philosophers on Mars Hill, tactfully using as text for his sermon an inscription he had read on one of their numerous altars "To an Unknown God."

Paul in Corinth

Leaving Athens Paul went to Corinth which was the hot-bed of sensuality of the ancient world. "To live as they do at Corinth" was the symbol for everything that was lewd and licentious in that day. It was in Corinth that Paul wrote his great letter to the Romans in the first chapter of which he pictured the sensuality and bestiality of heathenism all about him as he wrote. Yet upon this deep-dyed stronghold of sin Paul advanced with the battle cry, "I determined not to know anything among you save Jesus Christ and Him Crucified." He was unashamed of the gospel, calling it, "the power of God unto salvation" even in wicked Corinth. Working by night at his trade of tent making with Aquilla and Priscilla, and preaching this gospel by day, he withstood the same persecution from his fellow countrymen that he had met everywhere else. As this opposition grew it forced him to limit his ministry largely to those of other nations, and we hear him say with deep feeling "Your blood be upon your own heads: I am clean: from henceforth I will go to the gentiles."

The human spirit has its limits in that which it can endure and doubtless, Paul had reached that limit in Corinth when our Lord Jesus Christ came to his depressed and discouraged servant and poured new courage into his broken spirit. "And the Lord said unto Paul in the night by a vision, Be not afraid, but speak and hold not thy peace: for I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to harm thee: for I have much people in this city." Thus Christ refuels the souls of his servants and keeps them aloft when, otherwise they would fall exhausted in their effort to rise above discouragement and depression.

Depression is begotten of fear and fear comes from one's realization of insufficiency to meet situations. Christ came to Paul in Corinth to assure him of His presence and cooperation in the work Paul had come there to do, and thus to eradicate all fear, either for himself or for his work. Thus assured of Christ's alliance and ultimate success, Paul was encouraged to fight on, and continued there " a year and six months" teaching the word of God among them."

The Power of Love

Paul's ministry of creating a church in such a setting as that at Corinth is in itself proof of the truth of what he wrote to this same church in that beautiful classic on love which fills the thirteenth chapter of his first letter to these Corinthians: "Love suffereth long and is kind. . . doth not behave itself unseemingly, seeketh not its own, is not provoked, taketh not account of evil: rejoiceth not in unrighteousness but rejoiceth with the truth: beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things. Love never faileth."

(The International Uniform Lesson for October 25 is Acts 18: 1-17, 1 Cor. 13, the subject being "Paul in Cornith" and the Golden Text 1 Cor. 13:13: Now abideth faith, hope, love, these three and the greatest of these is love.")

Today Is Fall Arbor, Bird Day

HARRISBURG, Oct. 23.—Today is being observed throughout the state as Fall Arbor and Bird Day.

The proclamation of Governor Gifford Pinchot urges the consideration and study of the hemlock as the state tree and the ruffed grouse as the state bird, which are outstanding types of the hundreds of trees and birds that grace our Commonwealth. The reforestration of waste and idle land and the planting of shade trees near schools and homes and along streets and highways is recommended.

The two hundredth anniversary of the natal day of George Washington will be celebrated throughout the nation in 1932. In anticipation of this observance, Governor Pinchot especially urges that at least one tree be planted for each of the ten million people in the state to commemorate the birth of the Father of Our Country.

Autumn Revue

At senior high school next week there will be An "Autumn Revue" you'll all wish to see.
"McGill" and "Highland" both expect to be there,
To help you forget all your worries and care.

"Mother Goose" they will bring as their share of the fun,
We know you'll be pleased when the frolic is done.
She has tripped gayly out from childhood's loved books,
To give you a chance to see how she looks.

With Mother Goose comes several children so dear,
Who will bring to your hearts much gladness and cheer,
They will frolic and sing in the same charming way,
That they do in Mother Goose Land every day.

If you have forgotten the long ago days,
When you were a child with your books and your plays,
Just come to our show with hearts gay and light,
And act as a child again just for the night.

Forget all your worries; away with dull care!
Enjoy Mother Goose and her children so fair.
They will frolic and sing; 'twill be a real treat,
You'd better come early and get a good seat.

Car Guest Loses In Damage Suit

Verdict In Favor Of Ralph Ferree In Case Brought By Mrs. Sarah J. Morgan

In the case of Sarah Jane Morgan and Horace S. Morgan against Ralph Ferree, which was tried before Judge James A. Chambers in county court the jury returned a verdict in favor the defendant. The suit was brought against Ferree on account of injuries sustained by Mrs. Morgan, while riding as a guest in the Ferree automobile. Ferree was coming north on South Mill St., when his car skidded on the icy street and struck a telephone pole. The pole was broken off and thrown on top of the car. Mrs. Morgan received serious injuries. She alleged that Ferree was driving at a high rate of speed.

In his own defense Ferree denied that he was driving at a dangerous rate of speed. He claimed that the accident was due to the slippery condition of the street. Under the verdict no damages will be paid by Ferree.

Hundred Fifty Children Hear Library Stories

Great Crowd Of Children Swarm To Library Thursday For Story Hour

"Toads and Goblins" and "To Your Good Health" were the stories that attracted 156 children to the New Castle free public library Thursday after school.

Although each children's story hour this season has been attended by an unusually large number of youngsters, Thursday's 156 was the record.

The children gathered, in three groups, at different times in the children's story hour room, in the library basement, and there they listened intently to the stories told by Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarian. Miss Joyce also read several poems from the "Silver Penny".

Next Thursday afternoon Hallowe'en stories will be told. Children are asked to come at 4 o'clock and at 4:30.

Typical Father Is Skeptical Of World Dictator Question

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—Merrill J. Brown, father in the typical American family selected by the American Magazine, is not the type to jump into the post of world dictator hypathecated by H. G. Wells, the English novelist.

"If I were made a world dictator, the first thing I'd do would be to read up on what this dictatorship business is about," he said today.

Brown, with typical American sagacity, declined to answer leading questionns, especially those setting up hypothetical situations.

The conservative sales manager admitted he did not know what "this dictator busines is all about," and said he would not even pretend he was a world dictator until he understood better what such a position would be.

Town's Prosperity Proves Boomerang

DANBURY, Conn., Oct. 23.—The prosperity the Empress Eugenie hat has brought to Danbury, the hat city, is costing the community many dollars.

Reports of "boom" conditions have brought scores of unemployed persons here in hope of obtaining work in hat factories. But although the plants are working overtime, there is plenty of skilled labor living in Danbury and municipal authorities have to give the unemployed outsiders carefare home.

The outsiders usually come here with little money, stay in a cheap lodging house long enough to exhaust their funds and then appeal for funds to go back to the cities from which they came.

A fund of $100,000 has been appriated to cover poor relief and sending unemployed outsiders away.

Mrs. Catherine McGinley has died at East Maitland, N. S. W., at the age of 111.

Tradition Lost By Old Church

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 23.—St. George's Methodist Episcopal church, oldest edifice of the denomination in the world, has lost some of its historic tradition.

Recently an electrically operated organ was installed, and now at each service the strains of the new organ replace those that once emanated from the old man-power organ.

The electric organ was given to the church by Samuel K. Felton, a life-long member of the church.

The church will celebrate its 162nd anniversary in November.

How Smart Shops Make Glassware Sparkle

BY MARY LEE WORK

A New Easy Way to Wash Dishes And Do 2 Other Hard Jobs In Half the Time

Ever wonder how the smart shops get glassware and fine china to sparkle like jewels on display?

It's really very simple. You can wash your own dishes the same way—get the same results—and actually save half the time you now spend. Here's how they do it.

They use a product called Climalene. Your grocer either has it or can obtain it for you.

Ends Grease Scum

Add one teaspoonful of Climalene to a dishpan of water, use only ¼ the amount of soap you now use. It instantly cuts the grease from dishes and cooking utensils, makes glassware sparkle and china gleam. The Climalene-softened water; plus certain bland cleansing agents, cuts your dishwashing time ½ or more—saves ½ or more the soap you now use.

To Avoid Faded, Gray Washings

Use 2 tablespoons of Climalene, and ¼ the usual amount of soap. Clothes emerge soft, spotless, utterly without fading. For soap fade, and soap eat are ended this way. In recent tests men's blue shirts were washed 75 times without noticeable fade; sheerest French hosiery 100 times or more—to prove the blandness of this way.

Banish Bathtub Ring

Add a tablespoonful of Climalene to your bath water. It makes the water soft as summer rain. A quick, rich lather is made with soap. After the bath—just rinse the tub. That is all. There just isn't any "high-water" mark. No scrubbing—no rubbing.

Why It Cleans

Climalene instantly takes all the harshness out of lake water, medium hard water, and hard water. Makes it soft and gentle as rain water. So soft it does the work with ¼ the soap you now use. At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly DISSOLVES all grease, dirt and grime, and thus cuts your working time ½ or more, in washing, cleaning and in the dishpan.

Invention And Tariffs —Mostly Psychology, Blamed For Depression

Mechanization Of Industry Held As Basic Cause Of Present Trouble By Congressman Lewis, Tariff Specialist

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—When I asked Congressman David J. Lewis of Maryland what caused the world depression, I expected him to answer, "Tariff barriers".

The Marylander is an all-around economist of first rank, but tariffs are his specialty. He was a member of the original federal tariff commission of 1917, for which President Wilson scoured the country to find the ablest experts. Among them Congressman Lewis, conscripted from the House of Representatives to serve on the board, generally was recognized as the foremost. President Coolidge did not reappoint him in 1925, but that was because of the scant favor with which he regarded the protective system. The system not only continued; tariffs have been revised stiffly upward. Protection appeared to be working so well in this country that other countries have been imitating us; building import-proof walls around themselves, too; obstructing trade in every direction.

Then came hard times. The world now is in its third year of stagnation and unemployment.

It seemed to me that Representative Lewis, back again in Congress, was virtually certain to say, "I told you so".

Instead, he said, as so many folk do:

"The mechanization of industry is the really basic cause of the trouble.

"Tariffs add to it.

"Between them they are responsible for about 50 per cent of the total.

"Psychology is responsible for the other 50 per cent."

The congressman dismissed World War destruction as inconsequential, in so far as the United States is concerned.

"Governments like England's and Germany's," he observed, "which, having taxed their populations to the uttermost, still are unable to make ends meet, may be correct in attributing their straits to war losses.

"Considering our national wealth, America's recent deficit is unimportant. We could wipe it out with hardly an effort.

"If, with everyone working overtime, we scarcely could support ourselves, we might complain that the war had left us poverty stricken, but it is notorious that lack of a sufficiency, were our products properly distributed, is not our problem."

"The one-sidedness of invention," said the Marylander, "is at the bottom of our difficulties.

"There are two kinds of invention. "One kind creates new wants, like the radio. The other kind displaces labor, like the steam shovel.

"Labor-displacing inventions have predominated for a generation.

"On a large scale, we have not had one of the other type since the auto, which displaced only the horse, while creating many fields of human employment; even the radio largely has displaced the piano."

"Much money has been saved," continued Congressman Lewis, "by the release of no-longer-needed workers, but unfortunately virtually all of it has gone into the pockets of folk who already were fully clothed, well fed and comfortably sheltered, and who consequently did not spend it, having nothing more that they required.

"They would have been glad to put it into new industries, but there has been no demand for them.

"Thus their savings have piled up in banks and stayed there."

"The number of dis-employed," said the representative, "already had reached some 2,000,000 before the depression set in, but their voices barely were heard while the remainder of the country considered itself prosperous.

"Finally, however, multiplying tariff interferences with trade began to make their effects felt.

"International trade is misleading in its aspects, due to the high visibility of imports, the low visibility of exports and the absolute invisibility of interchanges which have yet to develop.

"That is to say, a cargo of foreign goods landed at an American port is very obvious to Americans; a cargo of American goods landed at a foreign port is a mere abstraction to them; increased commerce a few years hence is beyond the scope of even their imaginations.

"The effects of tariff restrictions also ramify surprisingly.

"If a new impost reduces Russia's consumption of tea, India and Ceylon, which have been supplying it, must curtail their purchases of fabrics from English spinners, who need correspondingly less raw cotton from Georgia and Alabama and presently Chicago manufacturers notice a falling off in Dixie's demand for agricultural implements.

"Moreover, higher tariffs mean higher prices, which mean dwindling sales unless wages rise also, a thing not to have been expected in the face of decreasing employment due to expanding mechanization of industry."

"Coming just at the critical moment," quoth the Maryland congressman, "the last tariff advance slowed the business machinery sufficiently for everyone to notice it.

"A scare started.

"The scare, from which America and the rest of the world have not yet recovered, constitutes the psychological 50 per cent of the depression.

"Psychology is susceptible to intangibilities.

"By that 50 per cent, President Hoover's program of a bankers' pool, with accessories, is calculated to improve conditions."

"To accomplish a 100 per cent restoration," said the Marylander, "occupations must be found for from a fifth to a quarter of the world's workers, who otherwise will remain permanently dis-employed.

"Perhaps it can be done by new inventions—popularization of television apparatus or genuinely safe aviation.

"Or it may be accomplished through the launching of some great social program, such as the advent of general education, which withdrew millions of the young from the ranks of industry, beginning approximately a century ago, with the dawn of our present machine age."

British King Returns White Staves To Trio

Symbols Of Traditional Offices Are Returned To Men By King George

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Ex-policeman Jack Hayes, ex-taxi-driver Ben Smith and ex-ship's carpenter Tom Henderson called on King George at Buckingham palace to relinquish their posts in the Labor government.

When the government was formed in 1929, Hayes was appointed vice-chancellor to the royal household, and Henderson, comptroller to the royal household.

The posts are traditional, and in these days are practically only formal. The insignia of the offices are white staves, and it was these that the three Labor men went to hand over.

But, contrary to precedent, the king handed them back the staves as souvenirs, and also autographed photographs of the queen and himself.

It is customary for outgoing occupants of the office to hand their staves to the king, who then bestows them on the incoming officers. New staves will have to be found for the new officers—Major Sir George Hennessy, treasurer, Major Goronwy Owen, comptroller, and Sir Frederick Thomson, vice chamberlain.

Indian May Be Last Mohican

Can Speak Complicated Language Taught By His Parents

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 23—"The Last of the Mohicans" may be a reality in Makwa Monupy, 74-year-old white moustached Indian, known in Milwaukee as William Dick.

University of Chicago anthropologists believe Monpuy is the only person alive who knows and speaks the Mohican language. The aged Indian's speech is important to linguists because the Mohicans never recorded their language, either in pictures or words. A member of the Chicago anthropology department spent several days here recording in phonetic writing Monpuy's words.

Although he remembers no Indian songs or legends, Monpuy can speak the complicated language learned from his parents when he was a boy on a Wisconsin reservation. His father and mother came to Wisconsin from a New York reservation.

Monpuy is a Presbyterian and an elder of his congregation, but retains a deep sympathy for Indian worship.

GINSENG GROWING BRINGS BIG REWARD

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 23.—The growing of ginseng has developed into a substantial business at Waterford, Ontario, and the product finds a ready market in China, where the people credit the root of the plant with having valuable medicinal qualities. About 45,000 pounds of the ginseng root were produced under cultivation at Waterford last year, the export value of which was $370,000. The area sown to ginseng was about 50 acres. A good average yield for ginseng is 2,000 pounds per acre, and under normal conditions the export price averages $12.50 per pound, or $25,000 per acre. The cultivation of the herb is not, however, without its risks of damage by rust and rot, and it takes five to six years after planting for the root to mature to market size.

"RUSHING" SEASON ABANDONED AT PITT

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23.—The "rushing" season has been abandoned by the University of Pittsburgh co-eds chiefly because of the heavy expense the traditional method of securing sorority pledges entailed, it was announced today.

HIGH SILK HAT KEEPS MAN FROM SEVERE INJURIES

(International News Service)

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Oct. 23. — The high silk hat of Andy Raynish, of Bridgeport, was put on the inactive list, but Andy is satisfied that it wasn't his head.

A motorcycle rammed into the rear of Raynish's car and hurled him through space. He landed hat first in the gutter. The stiff crown of the headgear broke his fall. It broke the hat, too, but Raynish was saved from serious injury.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press

I have not until recently believed that another attempt would be made to put a radical "farm relief" plan through congress this winter.

However, about the time I reached this conclusion, the American Farm Bureau federation let it be known that they would once more introduce the so-called McNary-Haugen plan, with its "equalization fee", and push it as an amendment to the Marketing Act.

This means, very likely, that the national grange will also bring forward its plan, known as the "export debenture". Altogether, it promises to add one more fracas to what looks like an exciting and exhausting session of congress.

From 1923 to 1928 the farm bureau was pushing the McNary-Haugen plan. Failing five times to get the measure enacted as law, the farm bureau desisted, and for two years aided the grange in trying to put over the export debenture, first as a part of the Marketing Act in 1929, and then as an amendment to the tariff bill in 1930.

Now we are, to all intents and purposes, back where we started.

The equalization fee, in a nutshell, is a device for making all producers of a given crop, particularly wheat, contribute their share in disposing of the exportable surplus. The idea is to impose an excise tax, or fee, or insurance premium, or whatever you choose to call it, on every bushel of wheat that goes into trade channels. The money thus collected is used to pay the expenses, or losses, of selling the surplus out of the country. The part of the crop that remains here, being only what we normally eat ourselves, would rise in price to a point that would be the world price plus most of the 42-cent tariff.

It is called "equalization" fee because it equalizes the loss on the exported wheat among all wheat producers, not merely on those whose actual wheat is shipped abroad. Everybody pays the fee, and everybody gets the benefit.

What the prospects are for putting such an amendment into the Marketing Act, no man knoweth. The administration is known to disapprove the idea, partly because it believes such an excise or fee is unconstitutional, but more particularly because it does not believe the plan would work.

Secretary of Agriculture Hyde wrote the European cotton buyers the other day that the government took no stock in the export debenture, and the equalization fee is in the same general class.

However, no one can say what the winter and an evenly-balanced congress may bring forth. Agriculture is a powerful section of the population, and wheat certainly is in a demoralized condition and needs some kind of tonic.

Much Interest In Leadership Training Class

The second New Castle class period of the leadership training school which was held at the First Baptist church Thursday evening, again had a splendid interest and attendance, and Dr. Wellburn's forceful and pleasing presentation of the modern methods of teaching give promise that the class will grow in size and interest the three remaining periods next week—Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

The devotional period was in charge of Dr. C. B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, who was acting dean for this period since Dr. G. S. Bennett, the dean of the school, had a previous engagement. D. S. Williams had charge of the singing and Miss Mabel Morrison was at the piano.

The senior high school students will have an opportunity to hear Dr. Wellburn as he will be the speaker at the chapel service Tuesday and Wednesday mornings, October 27 and 28. As the auditorium will not accommodate the entire high school he is to speak these two days in order to give all of the students a chance to hear him.

Tonight Dr. Wellburn holds his class at the United Presbyterian church of New Wilmington. This school has also been growing in interest and attendance, and at the last class period Wednesday night the various prayer meeting groups of the churches of Wilmington district attended the school. Rev. J. Ralph Neale, dean of the school, is pleased that the schools of the district are cooperating so splendidly to their mutual benefit.

WOMEN TAKE UP GAME OF BILLIARDS

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Bobbed hair deprived the male of his sole enjoyment of the barber shop. Now it looks as if his ultimate stronghold—the corner pool hall—is to be invaded by women.

With the slogan "A hundred a day keeps the wrinkles away," women in great numbers are taking up billiards enthusiastically. A Women's Billiards Association has just been formed, and circles for the teaching and playing of billiards have been organized in a dozen cities of Great Britain.

Several women are already in the 75-break class. Miss Joyce Gardner of Glouchester is in the 100-break class—nearly up to the men's amateur championship standard.

The game is said to be ideally suited to women, for it requires accuracy and delicacy of touch, rather than physical strength.

Chiffon handkerchiefs, tied to the waist and long enough to reach almost to the ground promise to be an evening-dress fashion in London this winter.

The accident happened near Conneaut, O., when Miller was passing the Bogenschmidt car, which he claimed pulled toward his side of the road as he attempted to pass.

Griffith Thomas of Park avenue and the choir conductor of the First Congregational church of this city will fill the pulpit of the Emmanuel Baptist church Sunday evening, October 25. Mr. Thomas was granted a license to preach at the conference of the Congregational churches of Pennsylvania, recently held at Edenburg, Pa.

For many years he has been practicing this kind of work. He was head of the True Ivorites order for five years.

Mr. and Mrs. David Rees and son from Farrell have returned home after visiting with friends in the city. Mrs. Rees was a former resident of this city.

A letter came to hand this week from a former New Castle man in the person of Dr. Thomas D. Rees, pastor of the First Baptist church of Cambridge. He thanks the members of the Emmanuel Baptist church for their kindness towards him during his visit here. He is the son of Deacon David Rees of East Washington street and a brother of Arthur J. Rees.

A singing festival will take place next Sunday when two New Castle singers will participate in the event. Harry Evans and George Anthony local men will take part.

A high-bicycle race was held at Herne Hill, England, recently.

CO-OPERATION

This week while Bill Kerber was making his rounds in the country he visited the beautiful farm of John Rodgers out near Pulaski and John sure was happy that Bil! came. He says Bill you are just the fellow I've been looking for. I need a little money to make a few improvements about the house to make it a little more comfortable this winter. Bill says well John we are always ready to co-operate any way we can. What suggestions have you to make? He says I've got those spring lambs down in the field by the river. Bill says let's go down and see them, maybe we can solve your problem. John says there is eighteen of them; I hope you can take them all at once. Bill says, John if you are willing to make some concession I'll take them, then we can co-operate with our friends in giving them some real prices and help them cut living costs. Kerber slaughtered the eighteen of them and brought them in. It certainly pleased me when I saw those little butter balls and I've put the prices within range of your pocketbook. Now you can treat yourself to a genuine home dressed spring lamb. Roast, stew or chops at prices you can afford to pay. We also got 75 bushels of genuine hand picked Baldwin apples from Mr. Rodgers.

If you haven't visited our live poultry department you are really missing a real treat. My friends have excepted our method of handling poultry away beyond our expectations. Our chickens are housed in sanitary coops and it's mighty nice to see your bird in perfect health before it's slaughtered and also know that the entrials are drawn immediately.

Tomorrow representatives of the Land O'Lakes Creamery will be at our store demonstrating the fine quality of their wonderful butter and cheese. Liberal portions will be given to each of our patrons.

Oil Industry Would Install Curtis "Czar"

Report Oil Industry Seeking Curtis Provokes Discussion In Washington

EXPECT DECISION MAYBE NEXT MONTH

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—A report that the American oil industry plans to draft Vice President Charles Curtis as its czar provoked considerable discussion today in Republican circles.

While Curtis denied "having received any offer," his friends believed American oil producers have such plan in formation. It was said a decision would be reached at the American Petroleum Institute's annual meeting in November.

The report created much interest here. If Curtis accepted such an offer, it would remove two administration dilemmas. First, it would permit President Hoover to choose his own running mate in 1932 without offending Curtis' friends. Second, it might result in the selection of David A. Mulvaney of Kansas as the next Republican national chairman.

Seeks Senate Seat.

With rumors prevailing that Curtis would seek a seat in the senate next year instead of running as vice president on Hoover's ticket, there has been a decided coolness between the two men. The president, however, would be forced to accept Curtis as his running mate, if the latter sought re-election, or else provoke a direct split in his own party.

Mulvaney, mentioned for the post of Republican national chairman has been handicapped by the Hoover-Curtis coolness. The president's friends have opposed Mulvaney's selection. With Curtis out of political life ,this opposition would be eliminated, and the western demand for a western chairman might result in Mulvaney's selection.

Is Carrying On Special Program To Help End The General Depression

The Salvation Army here and throughout the nation is making a special fight along with the rest of the people in the effort to get through the general depression that is now prevailing. A slogan has been adopted according to Ensign V. Thomsen, officer in charge here, of "Fight It Through" and with this as its motto, the Salvation Army is going to concentrate its activities in all lines in the effort to eliminate the cause and effects of the depression as far as it is able.

Commander Evangeline Booth started the effort among her forces on last Sunday before starting on her European Campaign. The Relief Work of the Salvation Army in New Castle will be done in connection with the Mayor's Relief Committee.

The Salvation Army will conduct its own financial appeal this year due to the fact that it is no longer in the Community Chest. This appeal will be made later.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Now that squirrels will soon be ripe, or rather in season, my friend the Huntsman insists he's going to take me out and break me in on the joy of knocking off a couple of the feathery tailed animals from the high limbs of a tree.

To go squirrel hunting it seems you have to start out at four in the morning. Wonder why? It is because the squirrels are early risers and you have to sneak up on them in the dark, or is it because they are wild and you have to shoot them before they get fully awake.

The invitation is a kind one but is declined with thanks for the following reasons. First: Four o'clock is too close to the middle of the night to be starting out squirrel hunting. Second: The squirrels never did me any harm. Third: The probabilities are I wouldn't be able to hit the squirrel with a handful of rocks. Fourth, fifth and sixth: Haven't got time.

But he has promised to bring me back a squirrel, so that we ought to be eating roast squirrel, fried or fricaseed or however you prepare them.

It may interest you to know that Dr. Butler, the head of the Westmoreland Products Company is one of The Butlers. The doctor is a full first cousin of Major General Smedley D. Butler and a nephew of Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University.

In appearance he favors his uncle more than his cousin. But in actions he favors them both. Seems to be a fighting strain there somewhere. General Smedley recently retired from the Marines and Nicholas Murray is ready to battle with anybody he thinks isn't right.

Furnaces Are Being Started

"BULK," VITAMIN B, IRON All in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

If you suffer from ordinary constipation, you will be benefited by Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Millions have found it brings relief.

Scientific tests show ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk," Vitamin B, and iron. "Bulk" promotes elimination. Vitamin B tones the intestinal tract. Iron helps build blood.

In the package, ALL-BRAN has a shredded appearance. But within the body, it changes to a soft mass, which gently cleanses the intestines. It is much like the "bulk" in lettuce or spinach.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Try two tablespoonfuls daily for a week. ALL-BRAN is natural—far better than pills or drugs, which may cause too strenuous action.

ALL-BRAN is already cooked, flavored and krumbled — bran in its finest form. Serve as a cereal or try the delicious recipes on the package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Mlle. Jose Laval Is Much Impressed With Sights Of Broadway

Nineteen Year-Old Daughter Of French Premier Presents Striking Appearance

Clothes Are Very Latest In Paris And Forecast Styles—Is Studying Law

By DOROTHY DUCAS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Mlle. Jose Laval, nineteen year old daughter of the French Premier, gazed upon Braodway for the first time Thursday and found it "formidable."

Standing on the windy deck of New York's official welcoming tugboat, the Macom, whence she had stepped from the steamship Ile de France, she asked excitedly: "Where is Broadway?" Someone pointed it out, a thin dark line of shadow between the towering temples of business that make up downtown New York.

"Oh, C'est fromidable!" she cried, showing her very straight white teeth in a broad smile.

Unable to suppress her pleasure at all those novel sights and sounds and experiences at once, she was the most vivid figure in the Laval party from the instant she appeared on the deck of the transatlantic liner.

She is pretty. She has large brown eyes, brown hair, worn to give the effect of a long bob, and her skin is dusky, the kind described in this country as "suntanned."

Wears Leading Shade

She was wearing a lapis blue ribbed wool ensemble, with a long coat that tied in Buster Brown fashion at the neck and had two large patch pockets. Her hat was a modified wool beret, exactly matching the dress. She wore brown alligator pumps and brown suede straps and carried a brown flat purse.

Incidentally, American fashion observers noted she was wearing the color which has been hailed as the leading shade for next spring. Thus she anticipated the mode, as the United States knows it, by at least a season and a half.

Is Not Engaged

"No, I am not engaged," she announced, and repeated for emphasis. "I am not engaged at all. I am studying law in Paris, but I do not think I will be a lawyer. There are many women lawyers in France, but I do it, just to have something to do."

"Perhaps you contemplate marriage as a career some day," someone asked.

"May-be," said Mlle. Laval, teasingly.

A member of her father's party explained that she is "too young" to think of romance.

She is interested in politics, for her father's sake, but the report that she was planning to be her father's secretary was incorrect.

Too Difficult

"He is too difficult for me," she remarked, good-humoredly.

Every day during the voyage an unknown American admirer sent her flowers: lilies of the valley, roses, carnations, she docked without learning his identity, however.

She does not smoke, but as is the custom among gently-reared Frenchwomen she drinks a little wine. She has visited in London, but has not been there recently, and no, she did not know Miss Isbbel MacDonald, that other statesman's daughter who was a guest in the United States two years ago.

Withdrawals Show Large Decrease

Philadelphia Clearing House Sees Return Of Confidence

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—Confidence in Philadelphia's banks has improved to such an extent in the past fortnight that more than fifty per cent. of all the persons who filed notices of withdrawal with financial institutions having saving fund deposits have not withdrawn any of their money at the expiration of the two weeks' period, it was announced Wednesday by Joseph Wayne, Jr., president of the Philadelphia Clearing House Association.

In addition, many notices of withdrawal have been canceled. The majority of such withdrawals as have been made were for sums normally taken out in the regular course of business. "On the average," Mr. Wayne said yesterday, "less than fifty per cent. of the withdrawal notices have been taken up. A great many were canceled. The number falling due is dwindling all the time."

On October 3, the Clearing House Association adopted a resolution directing that "all financial institutions in this city having saving fund or other time deposits require that notice be given as provided by the terms of the agreement, as contained in the pass book or other forms of contract."

Leave To Bring Alleged Robber

Man Wanted For Two New Castle Robberies Reported Arrested In Detroit

Peter Andrews, Youngstown, allegedly the man wanted here in connection with holdups of the Wajert drug store, West Long avenue, and the Rote confectionary, South Mercer street, is being held by Detroit police, it was reported today. County Detective Lee, his assistant B. J. Rocks and City Detective Jack Young leave for Michigan today to bring the fugitive here.

Andrews, County Detective Lee said, was an accomplice of John Kane who was sentenced to serve from seven to 20 years after being captured following the daring hold-up of the McKinley-Frantz drug store.

WHITE COLLAR MEN ARE LOADING COTTON

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 23—A minister, a lawyer, a geologist, numerous college graduates and former white-collar employes blistered their hands with cotton trucks when professional long-shoremen struck at Texas ports, recently.

"There were no 'strikebreakers' in the crowds that applied for places," said F. W. Parker, general manager of the Galveston Wharf company. "We were besieged with men who said they were out of jobs and wanted work to feed themselves and families."

One geologist with white soft hands pushed cotton on a truck regardless of the blisters. It was a pure exhibition of grit for many of the men in the early days of their new work until they hardened to it.

DRIFTWOOD TO SUPPLY JOBLESS WITH FUEL

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 23.—Driftwood from the river and harbor was gathered today by many unemployed, sawed into suitable lengths and piled in neat rows for drying.

The jobless have centered their activities in gathering the wood for want of other employment. The wood gathered will be sold next winter for fuel.

With no overhead expenses the waterfront woodmen are able to dispose of their product at a much cheaper rate than professional fuel men of the city.

Swiftest, Easiest Way to End Bilious Spell

When you neglect those first symptoms of constipation — bad breath, coated tongue, listlessness, the whole system soon suffers. Appetite lags. Digestion slows up. You become headachy, dizzy, bilious.

It's easy to correct sluggish bowel action! Take a candy Cascaret tonight. See how quickly—and pleasantly—the bowels are activated. All the souring waste is gently propelled from the system. Regular and complete bowel action is restored.

Cascarets are made from pure cascara, a substance which doctors agree actually strengthenes bowel muscles. All drug stores have Cascarets. 10c.

Better have us change it today and replace with clean, clear, full-bodied, free from acid oil. It's sensible economy, saving its cost many times over in avoiding repairs, replacements.

SHOE REPAIRING NEWS

FACTS—It is a fact that the average man in the shoe repairing business is anxious to please his customers, and give full value for each dollar received. It is also a fact that the average customer is ignorant concerning the different grades of leather. You will see by the chart that a steer hide is divided into four grades of leather. We pay for leather according to the grade. The fourth grade we do not use.

SAMPLES—We will gladly show you the actual stock we are using in our work.

REASON—We have made this change to permit the repairing of all reclaimable shoes.

OBJECT—Not to get the other fellow's customers but to bring out of the closets the hundreds of pairs of shoes not now being repaired which will be of mutual benefit to the customer and the repair man.

PRICE—In order to meet the times and varying conditions of shoes, we have inaugurated a new system whereby the customers may take their choice of materials with prices accordingly. You are your own judge of the kind and quality of work you desire.

SET TO LAUNCH ACTUAL SURVEY OF P. O. LAND

Engineer Wilson To Commence Work Saturday; Marks Formal Start

A telegram from Washington treasury department authorities to Postmaster Edwin Crawford today brought the government's approval of the postmaster's recommendation of W. Leslie Wilson as the engineer who will make an immediate topographical survey and soil investigation of the Public Square land.

On being notified of the message Mr. Wilson announced that he would commence the survey on Saturday morning.

A recent Washington letter had asked the postmaster to select an engineer to perform the preliminary work. He had made the appointment, but could not proceed without departmental sanction. The wire last night bore the signature of Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury.

The post office project formally gets under way with the launching of the site survey.

Make Progress In Battle Against Stream Pollution

Meeting Of Association To Be Held In Ellwood City Next Week

More than a hundred persons from Butler, Lawrence and Mercer county, interested in the prevention of the pollution of the streams of the district were in attendance at the meeting of the Association Against the Pollution of Pennsylvania streams, which was held at Slippery Rock this week. Dick Victor, secretary of the association, presided over the meeting which was held in the basement of the Slippery Rock National Bank.

State Engineer Van Zandt of the Bureau of Mines and Mine Water, was present and gave an interesting address on stream pollution and gave a demonstration of several samples of the water that has been obtained. All looked good until he placed in them the acids used in determining the actual content.

Members of the survey committee consisting of Roy Watson, chairman of Slippery Rock, O. E. Koonse and Ira Butler of New Castle and Messrs. Hines and James Riddle of Slippery Rock, reported that 76 samples had been obtained. J. A. McFall, chemist of this city, who is making the analyses of the water, reported that 43 samples had been examined and that about ten percent showed pollution.

Among those present were: M. A. Riley, member state fish commission and Dr. C. M. Iseman of Ellwood City; Lewis Young, health officer, Ellwood City; Dr. J. Linwood Eisenberg, president Slippery Rock State Teachers College, Burgess Chambers and John A. Aiken of Slippery Rock; Farness Hollibaugh, Sandy Lake; C. B. Rodgers, Volant; C. L. McKee, Mercer; D. W. Crall, Jackson Center; Manuel Bruehl and S. C. Scott, Ellwood City; Alderman O. H. P. Green, C. G. Martin, Thomas Hartman, B. F. Johnson, Ira Butler, O. E. Koonse, Sheriff Frank M. Johnston, Wesley Davy, J. A. McFall and R. H. Whaley, all of New Castle.

It was reported that improved treatment of sewage at Grove City was improving conditions in Wolf Creek. The samples secured were from the Slippery Rock, Muddy Creek, Wolf Creek and branches.

POTATO GROWER HAS RECORD YIELD FROM ACRE ON LOCAL FARM

Championships may come and go, but Charles B. Patton's record yield of 466 bushels of potatoes on a single acre on his farm in Hickory township, R. D. 4, is still to be beaten this year.

Patton, who has been specializing in potato growing for a number of years succeeded in beating the 400 bushel mark in 1926 when he dug 486 bushels. This year there were approximately 10 acres of potatoes grown on the Patton farm.

The acre which yielded the 466 bushels was planted on May 5 in rows of 34 inches apart. This field was in clover in 1929 with the second crop being plowed under for corn last year.

The potatoes were sprayed 12 times during the summer and cultivated three times.

The office of the Agricultural Extension Association announces that Patton's record is the best among farmers this year, although in the past it had been beaten.

Death Sentence

You'd be sad, too, if you faced the prospect this dog does. He is Roxie, a big German police dog, in Battle Creek, Mich., who has been sentenced to die for biting a little girl. Roxie's master has appealed the case, insisting that Roxie is unintentionally rough because of his size, and hundreds of school children throughout the nation have written Judge Paul Shafer begging him to free the dog.

Chicago Banker Victor In Case

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Maurice Rothschild, Chicago banker, today won the $250,000 breach of promise suit filed against him by Vera McCord, actress.

A sealed jury verdict opened by Supreme Court Justice Louis A. Valente contained the ruling, stating that the banker did not promise to marry Miss McCord and did not give her cause to believe he intended to.

The actress charged Rothschild promised to marry her after the actor's equity ball in 1925.

During the trial a brother of Miss McCord's, a close friend of the Chicagoan, testified against her.

Robbers Get Many Tires At Station Here

Standard Oil Service station, 401 South Mill street, was entered and robbed last night, the robbers getting away with a considerable amount of merchandise.

Efforts made to break open the safe were without effect, although the safe was so badly damaged that it was necessary to get an expert this morning to get it open. A hammer had been used in the effort to get into the safe.

Officers M. J. Young and George Kennedy answered the call and found that entrance had been effected through a rear window. The robbers left by a side door.

The merchandise taken consisted of ten tires, ten tubes, patches, grease and oil.

Manure hauled right to the field with a Famous-Ohio Spreader is worth 53c a load more than when it is piled outdoors to leach and burn away. One season will pay for the spreader and many farmers have used a Famous Ohio for eight years and say it's good for many more.

Built on an all steel chassis—steel reach and steel axles—that carry the weight and take all the draft strain. New auto type front axle with draft direct to wheel spindles prevents whipping of tongue and tipping of body. We believe this is the best spreader you can buy.

The Parent Problem
by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Unusually Bright Child Found By Psychologist In Intelligence Tests

Superior Minds Not Discovered By Teacher Or Parent Often Found By Expert And Given Direction

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

No intelligence test measures mentality with the precision of a yardstick measuring cloth. Suppose I were your psychologist and you were to bring your child to me for an intelligence test. I could rate him on one or several scales. I could say to you, "Your child rates a mental age of 12 years 3 months on the 'Stanford Binet Scale,' for instance; or that he rates as good as the upper 10 per cent of the army on the Alpha group test. I should know that his actual intelligence may be a little higher or a little lower than the rating indicated. Nevertheless, I almost surely would have more information regarding your child's mental capacity, his abilitw to learn, which I acquired within an hour with the aid of this intelligence test than your teacher had arrived at after several months, and more, no doubt, than you had gathered in the child's lifetime. No trained psychologist claims absolute accuracy for any measures of intelligence.

Manifestly a group test is, as a rule, less accurate than an individual test. High grade school systems are, therefore, spending more money on trained clinical psychologists, to give individual tests to as many children as possible, particularly young children. If you have a psychologist in your school system and find in your child some learning difficulties, or suspect that he is very bright or very dull, get in touch with that psychologist.

The school psychologist has been able to help the very bright child early. Often he finds superior minds not discovered by the teacher. These children, under proper guidance, can be so directed as to escape the boredom of average or slow school work. Moreover, the psychologist has helped parents and teachers to take a more humane and sensible attitude toward the child of markedly low intelligence. We little know how many children who otherwise would have been dubbed as devilish or lazy, punished shamefully for school failures, have, through the aid of intelligence tests, been saved from such tortures.

Bright or normal parents of very dull children find it hard to believe their child can really be dull. They prefer to believe him lazy or his teacher incompetent.

About the most touching thing I have had to listen to is, "Won't he grow out of it?" or "Won't he brighten up when he is a little older?"

Merely to write this gives me a heavy feeling above my waistline. The answer? It may be, Mother, that your child did not do quite so well as he could do, and that his mental age is a little higher than the test indicated (suppose the mental age is only five and that the child is eight years old). But you see he has not got on well at school or with other children.

No, it is not wise to expect him to be any brighter for his age at fifteen than he is now. You will be happier and he will be happier if you do not build up unreasonable hopes. Do all you can to help him develop freely and naturally and to make him live as comfortably as is reasonably possible. Then if, as in one chance out of ten thousand, he should surprise you and suddenly take a spurt, nothing would have been lost.

Unfortunately, well meaning neighbors, wishing to please and comfort, clergymen, and even many family doctors, encourage parents of very dull children to entertain false hopes, only to suffer untold agonies by and by. The trained psychologist can get nearer the truth in such matters, though his verdict for the moment may be painful to the parent.

TEACHERS OFFER CHAPEL PROGRAM

Students See Dignified Instructors Play Comic Roles At Washington

Teachers put away their dignity for the duration of the George Washington junior high school assembly period on Thursday afternoon, or rather during the time it took to display their talents in the humorous "Hog Holler Singin' School" which they produced for the benefit of the student body.

A number of parents and other visitors were present for the comic dramatic affair, given by the faculty members as a feature to the regular chapel program. Instead of the students playing the roles, it was the teachers.

Adorned to perfection in the old-fashioned costumes of 1860, the teachers won applause as they appeared on the stage to manufacture melodious music as members of the choral union. The offerings were enjoyed by the students.

Characters in the program, all of them teachers, were:

Prof. P. Percival Pippin, J. W. Anderson; Elviry Kitchen, Helen Sankey; Cal Amity, Graham Patterson; Cy Furr, J. C. Ward; Eva Green, Zelma Nesbit; Sophy Cushion, Harriet Ewing; Effa Vescent, Elizabeth Owens; Hi Waters, Frances Barnes; Justin Style, Lois Patterson.

ELLWOOD HIGH PLAYS ALIQUIPPA SATURDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 23.—Minus one of its stellar performers Ellwood City high football team will stage an invasion of Aliquippa Saturday afternoon to battle Nate Lippe's red and black warriors in their annual contest.

The locals have trained earnestly for this contest and despite some heavy losses they hope to upset Aliquippa to change their losing streak and avenge last yaer's 13-0 defeat.

Early in the week Coach Howard Gills took away the suits of Bill Pander, varsity halfback, and Andy Segedi, scrub, for disobedience of orers. Pander was a splendid interfering back and defensive player and will be missed in Saturday's encounter. Segedi was a second string halfback and was showing real promise, and had been in several games.

Coaches Gills and Lloyd wound up this week's heavy workouts with another scrimmage, yesterday afternoon, which is the third this week. No serious casualties are reported as a result. The field was not very comfortable to play on this week, being full of hard ruts as a result of last Saturday's game in the mud.

The varsity has shown real power in its offensive work the past two days. In about 20 minutes scrimmage on Wednesday and Thursday against the third team they rolled up four touchdowns in fast order. Some new plays were noticed in their repertoire at this time and they appeared to function nicely. Coach Gills is making nice use of the lateral pass, it appears. Two of the touchdowns on Thursday were a direct result of a lateral pass to Frisk who skirted right end for the markers.

With the exception of Pander, Segedi and Shardone, everybody has been reporting for practice daily. The latter is ineligible this week because of scholastic work. Frisk, who has been ill the past week, is again in fine condition and rarin' to go. Dick Wilson has been reporting daily but has not been used extensively because of a persistent "charley horse". His services will be needed on Saturday and it is hoped that he will be in better condition at the time. Joe Welsh, local star tackle, has a pair of badly bruised legs as a result of games and scrimmages, but has been reporting daily.

Coaches Lloyd and Gills have been working the boys strenuously this week in preparation for Saturday's battle. A light workout was held on Monday but the following three days scrimmages were held, besides the usual routine of blocking, tackling, passing, punting and calisthenics.

Coach Gills stated that the Ellwood team lacks actual game experience and to remedy this he had arranged a program of scrimmages, which has greatly aided Vanderillo, Luxenberg and Navolio, the team's greenest members. Although the former has been in quite a few games he is yet a little slow in his backfield position on the offensive, and his defensive work, especially against an aerial attack is poor. The coaches have been striving to improve this situation the past week and have succeeded to a great extent. Navolio has come along splendidly at right guard and is expected to start again on Saturday. Luxenberg, who with Navolio, was promoted from the third team last week, and played in his first major game last Saturday, seems to have won a permanent position at fullback. His work pleased the coaches very much on the offensive, but proved to be green on the defense. This has been remedied to an extent also.

The relative strength of Ellwood and Aliquippa is considered to be on a par. The former has lost three games, tied one and won one, and the latter has lost two, tied one and won two. Their win over Monaca last Saturday wasn't very impressive and local sports fans pick Ellwood to win. Coach Lippe has some veteran material left but does not seem to be very successful this year.

Ellwood's starting lineup will probably have Neff and Butler at the wings, Welsh and Vogt at the tackles, A. Wilson and Navolio at the guards. Cavalier at center, Kennedy at quarter, Vanderillo and Frisk at the halves and Luxenberg at full.

Coach Lippe will use McCoy, Joseph, Sheffler, Sullivan, Gratson, Yacopina, Ghinda, Wasovitch, Pinkoski, Walker and Muscovich.

SHEEP MILK MAY BE BABY'S FOOD

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 23.—If experiments being conducted by Dr. J. B. Oesch, Carrollville chemist, work out as well as he expects, sheep milk may soon be used as a diet for babies.

Karakul sheep, the curly black-haired breed from the Bokhara desert, are being used in the experiments.

Tests so far have shown that under best conditions the milk of these imported sheep tests 15 percent butter fat, Dr. Oesch explained. It is his opinion that the Karakul milk is more digestible than goat's milk, now the best to be had for babies.

City Employes In Pittsburgh Get Vacations

All Policemen Will Be Off One Day Without Pay—Detectives Given Week

ALL CITY OFFICES WILL BE AFFECTED

Economy Move Ordered By Mayor Kline—Hope To Reduce Tax Millage Next Year

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23.—Every employe of the city of Pittsburgh today faced an enforced vacation and wage reduction as the municipal retrenchment program spread through all departments of the city's government.

Orders were issued to all police inspectors by Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh for all policemen to drop off work one day each week without pay. Simultaneously, Inspector Frank R. Boyd of the city detective department, announced a week's vacation without pay for 15 city detectives and two policewomen attached to the missing persons bureau. Orders will be issued to other detectives in the bureau until all 53 on the force have been "furloughed" one week.

Order Spreads.

The vacation order, which originated in the office of Mayor Charles H. Kline, was to spread to all city departments employing more than 6,000 persons, it was reliably learned. The public works department last week took the initiative in the program with dismissal of a large number of employes and enforced vacations for others.

The enforced vacations were ordered as an economy measure by which the city fathers hope to reduce the tax millage next year to soften for Pittsburgh residents the blow of the present industrial depression.

London Thieves Steal Valuable Old Fireplaces

LONDON, Oct. 23—The record for cumbersome loot is claimed for unknown thieves who stole eight antique fireplaces from a house in the west-end district.

The fireplaces are believed to be the work of Adams and Grindling Gibbons, and although their actual value is not much more than $5,000, their intrinsic value is very much greater.

The house had been unoccupied for over a year. There was no caretaker, but it was visited at frequent intrvals. It was on one of these visits that the theft was discovered, although there was nothing to show how the fireplaces were removed. All doors and windows were intact, and the way in which the theft was executed indicated that it was the work of people who knew what they were doing.

The police thecry is that the robbery occurred in August when perhaps half of the occupants of neighboring houses were on vacation. It is believed that the fireplaces were taken out singly over a considerable period of time.

Some concern had been felt here for his safety until he returned.

Court Gives Pay To Mother-In-Law Who Shined Shoes

Housewives Are Supposed To Do Task For Nothing

BERLIN, Oct. 23—German housewives are obliged to shine the shoes of their hard-working husbands, but mothers-in-law are not supposed to do it for nothing.

Thus ruled a Berlin court in a damage suit filed by Frau Elsie Wiesner against her son-in-law Albert Draeger, a clerk.

The young couple and the mother-in-law lived in the same household, but quarrels soon began to disturb the harmony of the family life. Mother left her children and filed a suit against young Draeger demanding compensation for work done in the interest of the common household. In the account there appeared an item "shoe-shines," for which she charged five cents a pair.

The court ruled that mothers-in-law could not be expected to shine their son's-in-law's shoes for nothing, even if the latter had to work hard. On the other hand, it was explicitly stated in the court's decision that housewives are obliged to polish their husband's shoes, in cases where the husbands have to work hard all day long, so that home work could not be expected from them.

The only reservation made in the decision was that such low kind of work should be done by house-wives only in case the comparatively low social position of the husband warrants it.

Street Finding Device Invented By A Policeman

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 23.—An automatic street finding device, designed by Sergt. Everett Fisher, radio technician of the police radio station here, is expected to speed up the dispatching of radio cars of the St. Louis Metropolitan Police Department.

The device contains about 5,000 wires and several small electric motors. There is a switchboard with the 1,354 streets of the city listed alphabetically and opposite each name a hole to receive a plug. When two plugs are placed opposite the names of two streets, tiny threads on the map automatically intersect on the map at the correct streets.

Prior to the adoption of the new device, Sergt. Fisher estimated it took the police radio announcer three minutes to locate the exact scene of a crime. He estimates the work of the new machine will do it in three seconds.

Herbert Spivak (left), dapper young chauffeur, and Gladys Belden, wealthy heiress of Jamaica, L. I., who brought suit in New York to recover $240,000 worth of real estate which she deeded to the former. Spivak denied that there was any understanding of a marriage between them in retufn for the property—and stated his intention of keeping the real estate. It was said that her father, Dr. Charles K. Belden, had offered to make a financial settlement with the chauffeur, which the latter found acceptable.

MIXUP IN WHICH MULE WAS KILLED CALLED ACCIDENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—It was an "unavoidable accident," according to a report of the state department of public relations, and here's how it happened.

A mule on which a man was riding stepped on a nest of yellow jackets.

In the commotion that followed, the mule became entangled in a guy wire which, in turn, pulled over a pole, causing a power line to fall onto and electrocute the mule.

When the mule toppled over, he fell on the man, fracturing several of the man's ribs and the man also was burned on the leg by the electricity.

Starting 'Em In Young

This German worker and his family, all active members of the Nazi party, evidently believe in starting their younger members in early in the art of giving the Fascist salute of upraised hand and arm. Note that even the little boy in his father's arms is according "Handsome Adolf" a salute after Hitler, Fascist leader, made a speech in Berlin denouncing the present Government in Germany.

SURROUNDED BY STRICT SECRECY

Nothing Heard Of Albert B. Fall For Some Time

(International News Service)

SANTA FE, N. M., Oct. 23.—Complete secrecy has surrounded the actions of Albert B. Fall since the prison doors closed behind the black ambulance which brought him here on July 20. He is serving a year and a day in the New Mexico penitentiary for accepting a $100,000 bribe from Edward Doheny in connection with the naval oil leases.

Fall is still in the penitentiary, but that is all that can be learned officially.

Acting on instructions from the department of justice, Warden Edward Swope has consistently refused to say a word about the condition of the ex-secretary of the interior. Visitors are not allowed, although it is rumored that old friends of the ex-secretary have been permitted admittance to the hospital ward, or room where he is detained.

Dr. E. W. Fisk, prison physician, is also under the news ban and is not allowed to discuss the physical conditions of Fall.

It is reliably reported, however, that Fall's condition is practically unchanged since his incarceration, that he is still unable to exercise and is practically confined to his bed.

Whether he is still permitted stimulants is not known. Dr. Fiske announced the day after Fall's sentence began, that the ex-secretary would be allowed no liquor during the term of his sentence.

Fall completed the second month in prison Sept. 20. Under federal rules he will be permitted to apply for a parole upon termination of one third of his sentence, or on November 20.

In case he takes a pauper's oath that he cannot pay the $100,000 fine, he may have to serve an additional month, even though the parole be granted.

FIRST AIR TRIP AT 91

(International News Service)

OWOSSO, Mich.—"Youth" must have its thrills. So when Mrs. Sarah Watson's ninety first birthday rolled around this month she decided the appropriate manner in which to celebrate it was to take an airplane ride. "I'm going to do it again as soon as I am given the chance," Mrs. Watson said after her ten minute ride. "It wasn't as exciting as the first automobile ride I had, though."

Aged Man Given Prison Sentence

Charles W. McClain, 73, Gets Three To Six Year Term For Incendiarism

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 23.—Charles W. McClain, who has reached and passed the Biblical span of three score and ten, today stood committed to the Eastern penitentiary to serve a three to six-year sentence for incendiarism.

McClain, who is 73, faced President Judge Hargest in Dauphin county criminal court. When Judge Hargest used the word "penitentiary" in sentencing McClain, the aged defendant cried aloud in the courtroom. He was charged with setting fire which destroyed two barns near Middletown.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Hargest observed:

"If you were a younger man I would give you a longer term."

Plans have been started for the growing of hemp on more than 4,000 acres in Columbia, and it is hoped to produce 1,000,000 bags a year.

Thirty Cities Reveal Gains In Business

Increase In Payments Of Bills Features Phila. Report To Hoover Committee

Clearly Defined Upward Trend In Employment Shown By All Parts Of Country

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Fresh reports of improving conditions reached the President's organization on unemployment relief. From 30 cities there came word of slight but clearly defined upward business trends and of expectations of further gains in the near future.

In some places mills and factories had reopened after a period of idleness, giving employment to a large number. Some establishments had taken on additional workers as a result of increased business.

Department stores in several localities already are increasing their personnel in preparation for the Christmas trade. The holiday buying is expected to act as a lever to boost business upward, at least temporarily.

More people in Philadelphia are paying their bills. A report to the President's organization stated that the increase in collections in that city amounted last week to 20 per cent over the previous week. There was a slight drop in retail sales three weeks ago, but "unchanging conditions" are now giving hope to business men that "at last they have a foundation to build on," the report said, adding there was slight improvement in retail trade last week.

With general conditions unchanged, cotton goods, furniture, shoes, paper, wool and tobacco industries showed slight improvement last week, nevertheless.

Employment in anthracite mines increased 19 per cent, with a payroll gain of one per cent during the week.

Although no improvement was reported for the Pittsburgh district, a better sentiment was said to be evident there, in anticipation of an expected increase in orders from the automotive and railroad industries.

Wilmington, Del., was cheered by news that a local machinery firm was to start on a $400,000 order.

Reports from New York City said the number of applicants for jobs, on the basis of a six-day week, declined 2.13 per cent last week, the number of requests for employees increased 2.94 per cent, and the number of placements declined 9.8 per cent.

Reopening of business establishments was reported by Rochester, Providence, Atlanta, Lewiston, Me., and New Bedford and Lynn, Mass.

Increased activity in many lines was reported from many sections in New England. The New England council described this report as "the most encouraging compilation in recent months."

All sugar factories in Utah and southern Idaho were said to be in operation.

An average of 23 days' work for 4,100 men has been provided by Seattle, through emergency work on municipal projects.

The California department of public works will provide part-time employment for an additional 3,800 men this winter.

Employment in Los Angeles was described as "showing an encouraging steadiness in all major industries, except food products." Employment for at least 30 days has been given to 1,300 additional workers by the department of water and power.

Big Auto Revenue Shown By Figures

(International News Service)

OTTAWA, Can., Oct. 23.—Revenue from motor vehicles, including registration and gasoline tax, totalled $41,076,405 in 1930, an increase of $1,745,103 or 4.3 per cent over the previous year, according to a preliminary report on highways and motor vehicles issued by the Canadian Government Bureau of Statistics. There was a dcrease during the year under review of $2,165,154 in registration fees, due largely to the decrease of the average fee in the province of Ontario, but this was offset by an increase of $3,910,257 in the receipts from gasoline tax over that of 1929, owing to the larger quantity of gasoline consumed.

Blaine's Tragic White House Race Started At Speaker's Dais

By EDWARD MAYL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Democracy found itself on evil days following the Civil War, but for all that James G. Blaine, Republican Speaker of the House in Grant's administration also felt the pall of the speakership in his three sallies upon the White House. Twice rejected by his own party, he was nominated in 1884, only to go down in history as the first Republican aspirant to taste defeat since the days of Buchanan.

If ever fate conspired to cheat an able man of his highest ambition, that man was the man from Maine, Speaker of the House in the 41st, 42nd and 43rd Congresses. Clay was eclipsed by Jackson: Cannon by T. R. and Clark lost the friendship of Bryan as they sought the presidency from the rostrum in the House, but "the plumed knight" was defeated in his quest more by the elements of luck than the personal venom of Roscoe Conklin or the assaults of Horace Greeley. History records this.

The scandal of the "Credit Mobilier' drove Schuyler Colfax, Speaker and Vice-president in Grant's first term, from public life, and left its mark on many members of Congress, pointing a finger of suspicion at Blaine as well, but Blaine talked himself above this obstacle, only to confront unseen and greater barriers.

Greeley also itched for the seat of the mighty, and in his New York Tribune charged that Blaine had received 35,000 shares of Union Pacific stock, valued at about $2,000,000 for his share in the legislation which made the "Credit" possible. Later Blaine was charged with having used the speakership to aid the Little Rock and Ft. Smith railroad (now the M. K. & T. in selling its bonds. It took the nomination of 1876 from Blaine at the Cincinnati convention, and gave it to Gov. Rutherford B. Hayes, of Ohio.

Ingersoll delivered his renowned "plumed knight" speech at the convention, but Blaine was a defeated aspirant when the gavel fell upon that meeting. On the Sunday preceding, Blaine walked to church in a hot Washington sun, and was stricken at the door of the edifice The convention opened on Wednesday, when the telegraph was flashing unfounded reports of his death. Blaine attempted to rally his friends from his sickbed in the capital.

He received 285 votes on the first ballot while 61 were cast for Hayes, but the latter climbed to victory with 384 votes against 351 for Blaine. Hayes entered the White House over Samuel Tilden in an election finally decided by a "commission."

Four years later Blaine had served in the Senate and as secretary of state. Grant allowed Conkling to present his name to the Republican convention for a third time. Blaine balked. Grant and Blaine delegates were at loggerheads. Grant started with 304 votes. Blaine with 284. Blaine's votes again were from the electing states. With a hopeless deadlock General James A. Garfield, an Ohio "Sherman delegate" waved the olive branch and on the 34th ballot himself received 17 votes. On the 36th ballot Garfield was nominated with 399 votes.

As the next campaign approached Blaine was the strongest Republican in the country for an assassin had sent Garfield to his grave and elevated Chester A. Arthur. Democrats had not tasted victory since the days of Buchanan and the country seemed reconciled to a continuous Republican administration when Blaine and General Logan were placed at the head of the ticket.

The Democrats named Grover Cleveland of Buffalo, who reached the White House through the sheriff's office. Cleveland conducted a front porch campaign, but Blaine engaged in a six week tour, addressing more than 400 assemblies, ending in October at New York City where a thousand clergymen, Protestants, Jews, Catholics, Quakers welcomed him.

It was here the Rev. Samuel Burchard, an aged preacher, in his enthusiasm delivered his "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion," oration. Instantly the phrase was attributed to Blaine. He attempted to correct it, but the Irish of New York stampeded although Blaine's mother was a Catholic, and the Buffalo sheriff carried the Empire state and was elected by a majority of 37 electoral votes, the strength of New York state.

Four years later attempts were made to have Blaine's name presented again to the convention of the G. O. P., but he had become convinced by that time that his wagon was hitched to an ill-fated star, and refused it, accepting instead the state department portfolio from Benjamin Harrison.

LOST WHISKY SPURS RIVER DREDGE PLAN

HAMMOND, Ind., Oct. 23.—Now there are two reasons for dredging the Grand Calumet river, and perhaps the most important is not in the fact that the work is necessary from a shipping viewpoint.

An 'oldest citizen," who returned to Hammond recently, recalled that a quarter of a century ago a tugboat, carrying six cases of bonded whisky, lost the liquor cargo as it passed near where the Nickel Plate railroad bridge now stands. According to the "oldest citizen," the liquor is resting in 10 feet of mud.

Real Teachers Not Jobless, Says Boston Director

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—Although the teaching field is overcrowded, few real teachers are without positions, according to Warren E. Benson, director of Boston University Teaching Bureau, discussing results of a survey report he has completed.

Responsibility for the overcrowded conditions was placed upon those who, trained otherwise and jobless, had turned toward the teaching avenue as a way out.

"Great numbers of unemployed business men and women have taken refuge in the teaching field. Through this increases the supply of teachers, it does not affect the real teacher. The wise superintendent chooses the teacher who is qualified, and will remain with him through good times and bad."

The call for properly trained and experienced teachers is greater than ever before, according to Benson, who has had 197 requests for teachers during the past two months. In Massachusetts 35 requests have been received for teachers. Others included New Hampshire, 14; Maine, 12; Connecticut, 11; Rhode Island, 5; and Vermont, 3. Thirty-one states responded from outside New England besides three Canadian provinces, and two island possessions including Porto Rico and the Philippines.

Cali, Columbia boasts that its population has nearly tripled since 1920.

PUBLIC DEBT OF ENTIRE ISLAND—IS BUT 35 CENTS

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 23.—America and Great Britain, faced with prospective budget deficits totaling billions of dollars, may read with envy of the public debt of Foulness Island, off the mouth of the Thames River.

It is just revealed that the total public indebtedness of Foulness Island is the modest sum of thirty-five cents, owed to the mainland of England.

The island is owned by the military, who leave the villagers only their own domestic budgets to concern them. Recently municipal candidates were nominated for Essex County, in which the island nominally stands. Candidates were nominated for Foulness, and the cost of the nomination papers—35 cents—was referred to the island for collection.

Now the islanders say no one was nominated because there is no municipal council.

So the Reverend J. H. Stanton, the island's vicar, has been asked to constitute himself as a Parish Council to collect and remit the money to the mainland authorities.

Spain is fostering cooperatives.

Best, Best Man, At 22 Weddings Never Lost Ring

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Meet Allen Webber, of Bournemouth, Eng., the world's ideal and best best man. At twenty-two weddings Allen Webber has stood before the altar giving courage to a bridegroom, hope to a bride, and to-date he has never lost a ring.

The bridegrooms claim that Webber brings them good luck and that all the weddings at which he has officiated everything has been carried out without a hitch.

But for all his prowess as the fairy godfather to nervous bridegrooms the flame of love has passed Webber by, and now at thirty-five he still remains a shy and modest bachelor.

"It is one thing helping your friends to get married," he says, "but getting married yourself is an entirely different matter. I do not want to get married, in fact."

CLEANLINESS FIRST IS MAYOR'S SLOGAN

NICE, Oct. 23.—Cleanliness first is the newest slogan on the Riviera, referring to the cult of hygiene instituted by a young and energetic Mayor, answering, strangely enough to the name of "Medecin" which means "doctor."

Rule No. 1 ordains that all utensils used in places where meals are served to the public, knives, forks, spoons and all dishes, must be dipped in hot water containing a powerful disinfectant after using. Then they must be rinsed in pure water and dried in clean towels.

Rule No. 2 applies to all articles used by hairdressers and beauty experts in general, whether they work in shops or at the client's home. Their instruments, after use, must be disinfected in a solution of spirits, rinsed and dried. Clean towels and linen must be supplied each client. Every worker in this trade must have clean hands.

NAB TRESPASSERS

Tom Roxey, Bob Pavich and Joe Morish, transients who said they had no home, were ordered out of the city before noon today by Alderman H. G. Coates, Seventh ward, after they had been nabbed by Patrolman Mathew Jordan, Pennsy policeman, for riding a Canton-to-Erie freight train.

These politicians who play international politics to win votes at home teach us that the army of unemployed now includes the foolkiller.

Dr. Green Is Chest Speaker On Thursday

Tells How School Teachers Responded To What They Felt Was Duty

SUBSCRIBE TENTH OF CHEST QUOTA

Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools, was the speaker at the report meeting of the New Castle Community Chest Thursday, acting as chairman in the absence of Dr. C. J. Williamson.

Dr. Green was asked to tell how the schools had so successfully put across the Chest campaign to their members this year.

He stated that the teachers, who are members of the New Castle branch of the Pennsylvania Educational Association planned their part in this year's Community Chest campaign long before the campaign had been launched. A meeting was called soon after school opened and the teachers, realizing that conditions in general were not so good this year, decided that they would give to the best of their ability.

Dr. Green stated that no coercion was used, but that the teachers were giving because they want to give and feel it is their duty. In a great many cases, they are giving more than they can really spare, he asserted, but they really felt that they should do so and they did.

Na attempt was made by the school officials to suggest what each teacher should give that matter being entirely left to their own judgement. He stated that the schools were going to raise one-tenth of the Community Chest fund this year.

Mrs. Sarah Sankey McCune, president of the New Castle branch of the State Education Association was called upon. She stated that she, and the other teachers of New Castle have felt on many occasions that they have been held up in comparison with other professions and have been censured in various ways.

"We do not feel that we have done anything exceptional in this case," she said. "We felt that we are getting near the point in the salary scale that we should be, and should do our duty in this great community project.

"We are sometimes amused at the attitude of the public in classifying us as a separate group instead of individual citizens.

"We feel that we are as good as the average in all respects and that we are true representatives of modern civilization. And we want you to know that we are with the citizen of New Castle in everything that stands for the betterment of the community."

Scout Executive H. G. Horton presided as song leader Thursday and acquitted himself very crititably in spite of the fact that new songs were introduced.

Although the Chest quoto was still in need of $19,000 the workers left the meeting determined to make up the most of that amount by Friday noon.

CATTLE THIEVES BEING HUNTED BY STATE TROOPERS

(International News Service)

DANVILLE, Pa., Oct. 23.—State police are looking for cattle thieves who are extremely daring, or very hungry, or both.

The search started after a valuable, registered heifer was stolen at night from its pasture in Valley township and butchered.

Part of the carcass was carried away. The remains indicated that the thieves were inexperienced in butchering and used crude instruments in their work.

Rockne's Hold On Public Revealed By Scrap Books

Many Respond To Request For Clippings For Autobiography

(International News Service)

NOTRE DAME, Ind. Oct. 23.—Knute Rockne! Girls, women, and even grandmothers, as well as the men and boys are among those who idolized Notre Dame's famous coach.

This is indicated in the hundreds of telegrams and letters received at the University.

After Rev. John W. Cavanaugh, C. S. C., former president of Notre Dame, who had been commissinced by Mrs. Rockne to complete a Rockne autobiography, advertised for clippings or printed information bearing on the life of the master coach, further evidence of the hold he had on the public was shown.

Nearly 300 persons from all walks of life throughout the country responded by sending scrap books or bundles of clippings and of these approximately two thirds were sent by girls and women.

A grandmother sent a scrap book of Rockne clippings which she had compiled for her grandson. A mother explained that she became interested in keeping her scrap book because of her eighteen-year old son's interest in football. And scores of the scrap books and bundles of clippings came from school girls.

Father Cavanaugh explains this surprising indication of Rockne's hold on the imagination of women by calling him "an ideal" in their estimation. "Women raised him on a pedestal," he said, "because they thought of him as an exponent of fair play and physical prowness and as a builder of young men."

A national campaign to raise funds for a Rockne Memorial Field House will be conducted in November under the direction of A. R. Erskine, of South Bend, doner of the Erskine Trophy for the national football championship.

TO EXPLORE IRAQ, CIVILIZATION CRADLE

(International News Service)

OBERLIN, O., Oct. 23.—An expedition will leave London soon for Iraq, the cradle of the world's civilization, to continue excavations of hitherto unearthed ruins and treasures of ancient Shaldea, it was revealed here by C. Leonard Wooley, director of the archeological explorations in the Ur valley for the British Museum.

Woolley attended the dedication of Oberlin college's new $600,000 Quadrangle building for the Theological school and gave three lectures on his Chaldean excavations before the student body.

More than 1,850 tombs of ancient kings, royalty and peasants and a myraid of other historical treasures have been unearthed by previous expeditions sent by the British Museum and headed by Woolley. He anticipates finding relics even more valuable than those he already has unearthed, on his next trip.

You can tell an honest man. He doesn't know how to protect himself from meddlesome Government agents.

P. R. R. Telegrapher Here Recalls Steamer Banquet When Edison Was Honored

While the sorrowed world lifted its bowed head to face the future without Thomas Alva Edison, its renowned inventor, people everywhere still were marveling at his myriad of achievements and recounting incidents that served to portray his personality best.

A Pennsylvania railroad telegraph operator located here, L. M. "Buzz" Campbell, told his memorable recollections of the beloved genius today.

On Steamer Olympia.

It was back in 1925 when Campbell joined 1,800 other members of the Old Time Telegraphers' and Historical association for a testimonial to Edison in the banquet room aboard the White Star Liner Olympic docked at New York. The heads of the great railroads, the great steamship lines and industrial leaders were there.

But here is how Campbell described it:

"Mr. Edison, I remember plainly, was sitting at the guests' table and was shortly called upon to speak. A telegraph transmitter was resting in front of him, so he turned to it to send his message."

Veteran telegraphers in the room found no difficulty in receiving it, and Campbell, seated far back toward the rear of the hall, hurriedly wrote the message on a part of the program leaflet. As Edison ticked the transmitter, Campbell wrote:

"To the Telegraphers' Fraternity:

"Amidst the activities of a busy life, full of experience, hopes and fears, my thoughts of early association with my comrades of the dots and dashes have ever been a delight and pleasure to me. I consider it a great priviledge to record in Morse characters on an indestructible disc this tribute to my beginning in electricity through the telegraph and wish it a God speed to the fraternity throughout the world. '73'—Edison."

"73" in the lingo of the telegraphers means "best wishes."

Forced To Read It.

Mr. Campbell, the manager of the Pennsylvania's relay telegraph office here and the chairman of the E. & A. Telegraphers' association, prizes highly the program upon which he wrote that message.

He distinctly recalls that toward the close of the transmiting, a man looked over his shoulder and read the greeting as he penciled it. It was Patrick Crowley, the president of the New York Central. Crowley knew telegraphy but could not hear the ticker at such a distance. So at Crowley's request Campbell informed the group about him as to what Edison said.

"When adjournment came," Mr. Campbell recalled, "the presiding officer told Mr. Edison that the radio audience would like to hear a word." And Edison's short reply was: "Very well, good night folks."

Mr. Campbell attended the banquet with C. L. Allison, Rochester, Pa., operator. Campbell's home is in Sharon.

DETROIT MAN BUILDS ENGINE

DETROIT, Oct. 23.—John Benson, a mechanic, has built in his spare time what is believed to be the smallest one-cylinder, four cycle gasoline engine in the world.

The tiny engine, which exclusive of the dry cell batteries which furnishes electricity for the ignition, weighs but three and a half pounds, and duplicates the principles of larger gasoline power plants. The piston, fitted to within one-half of one thousandth of an inch, has a stroke of one inch. The engine is equipped with a carburetor pump, counter-balanced crankshaft, air cooling and overhead valves. Benson believes it develops about one-twentieth of a horsepower when running at top speed. A thimbleful of gasoline will run the engine five minutes.

What was thought to be the fossil of a prehistoric reptile, found near Baguio, P. I., has been reported by the University of the Philippines to be only a boulder shaped like a reptile's head.

NEW TRICK WORKED BY FRENCH THIEVES

(International News Service)

PARIS, Oct. 23.—American gangsters might even learn a trick or two from two clever young French thieves who presented themselves before the porter of an apartment building in the rue de Moscow. They handed her a letter for one of the household, declaring that it was extremely, important and must be delivered immediately.

Inasmuch as a generous tip was offered at the same time, the good concierge hurried to obey. When the recipient opened the message, this is what he read: "You may send back the houseporter now, we have helped ourselves!"

And, as a matter of fact, the [illegible]r woman came back to find her little loge ransacked and everything valuable had completely disappeared—the two thieves, as well.

Malone Accuses Pinchot Of Playing Politics In "Firing" Of McClelland

Former Secretary Of Supplies, Now Retired, Denies "Misrepresentation"

"Certain Party" Interviewed Governor Then Letter To McClelland Followed

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23.—In a formal letter of protest over the dismissal of Dr. William D. McClelland of Pitttsburgh as a member of the state boxing commission, James F. Malone, former secretary of supplies and properties, today charged that "politics" dictated revision of the commission.

Malone's letter was dispatched to Gov. Gifford Pinchot in answer to the latter's statements that prior to Dr. McClelland's appointment "misrepresentations concerning him were made to me," acknowledging himself as Dr. McCleland's sponsor, Malone in his letter sought to dispel intimations that the "misrepresentations" had come from him.

Capable Official.

"What I told you on July 2 or 3, concerning Dr. McClelland personally, I have no hesitancy in repeating now and what I said concerning my belief that he would be a capable and efficient official has been verified by your letters of October 2 and 12, as well as by the public press throughout the state," Malone wrote the governor.

"There was quite a political agitation on for the appointment, in which I took no part until Mr. Stahlnecker and you took the matter up with me on July 2 or 3.

"The fact that Dr. McClelland was in office nearly two months before I left Harrisburg and for two months since I left Harrisburg and that nothing of this sort had developed until after you had a conference with a 'certain party' on October 1, followed by your letter of October 2 asking for Dr. McClelland's resignation, looks as though politics entered in definitely in these two dates.

"So far as I am concerned I made no misrepresentations or misstatement to you concerning Dr. McClelland or concerning any other person or subject at any time, nor would I do so, as I am not, or never have been, accustomed to placing a premium on political expediency.

"Any intimation that I misrepresented the facts concerning Dr. McClelland is not based on truth," Malone informed the governor.

Boyle Re-appointed.

Harvey Boyle, Pittsburgh newspaperman, was named to succeed Dr. McClelland as a member of the commission.

Malone, in his letter, stressed the point that in two letters sent to Dr. McClelland for his resignation, the governor stated he wished to retire the commissioner not because of "dissatisfaction" but because of his "attitude" toward the other appointee. The statement on "misrepresentations" was attributed to the governor by newspapers.

The former supplies secretary, who retired rather than pronounce allegiance to County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern as requested by Governor Pinchot in the Allegheny county primary, refused to amplify on the identification of the "certain party" mentioned in the letter. Amplification on this point, he stated, should come from the governor's office.

Keep Prohibition, Shaw Tells U. S.

Says Results Are Successful, Even If Bootleggers Corrupt Courts

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Bootlegging in the United States results in the corruption of police and law courts, but that is no reason for doing away with prohibition, George Bernard Shaw told the World Prohibition Federation Thursday.

He attacked tipplers who utilize the glass to obtain jollity or courage, saying he should feel ashamed if he had to resort to such measures. And he accused Gilbert Chesterton of being a "secret teetotaler" because Chesterton "is so very loud" in singing the praises of wine.

The direct results of prohibition in the United States have been "eminently successful in every way," Shaw said, "but some of the indirect results are very curious."

"There's an industry called bootlegging in America, and its profits are so large that the people who conduct it have immense sums for the corruption of justice.

"That is a very serious result, but it is not a reason for going back on prohibition. Rather it is a reason for the reorganization of law and order."

In Soviet Russia, he said, the bootlegger or gangster would last about ten minutes.

The way to cure drunkenness, B. B. S. continued, is to "make the common man not want to drink."

"What we ought to teach people is not that drink does harm or good or gives them courage or makes them jolly, but that it is in the last degree disgraceful that a man must have a drink to screw up his courage or to become jolly," he continues.

"I should myself feel utterly ashamed to have to drink whisky if I wanted to feel jolly. I believe that to make people ashamed of drinking is the right way to abstinence."

Falls Near Top In Fatalities

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—About all that has been learned about falls since discovery of the law of gravity, says the National Safety Council, is that they are a most common cause of death and injury, second only to motor vehicle fatalities.

The Council reported 30,000 home accident fatalities last year, of which 13,000 were occasioned by falls.

Falls will come in for minute study at the Twentieth Annual Safety Congress and Exposition, at the Stevens hotel, Chicago, Oct. 12 to 16.

Burns, scalds and explosions follow falls in importance in home tragedies. Then should be listed asphyxiation and suffocation, with poisons fourth, followed by cuts and scratches, Council statistics reveal.

The home accident record is doubly tragic, Council officials point out, because a large percentage of victims are children. Between the ages of 5 and 15 accidents cause more deaths than any one of the three leading child diseases, statistics show.

The three super-important ages of a man are (1) eating to live, (2) living to eat, and (3) dieting to live.—The Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

HALLOWE'EN PRANKS BRING THREE ARRESTS FOR ALARMS

Four fire companies were kept busy last night answering bogus fire alarms, hunting for the senders and finally arresting three boys for ringing in Box 213, Delaware and Moody avenues.

The series of pre-Hallowe'en pranks last night sent firemen to supposed fires in the east side, seventh ward and north hill.

City police assisted the fire department in rounding up a trio of boys for the false alarm on the north hill, which was received at 7:15 p. m. Assistant Fire Chief Stockman said that the box was rung by Joe Hunter, Jr., 524 Moody avenue, and that Jim Daily, 513 Moody, and Tom Cunningham, 514 Wildwood avenue, were with the Hunter boy at the time.

The boys were ordered to appear before Mayor Gillespie Saturday morning

Shortly before the north hill box had been pulled firemen in the seventh ward sped to Box 77, Cherry and Second streets, in response to another false alarm. Witnesses at the intersection told firemen that some boys were seen running from the box before the department arrived.

At 9:40 p. m., central and fourth ward firemen hurried to Box 41, Ray and Oak streets for "just another false alarm", according to the report of the fire department.

BACK-TO FARM PLAN BOOSTS RURAL PUPILS

SEATTLE, Oct. 23.—Following the "back to the land" movement, scores of unemployed people in this section are finding living on abandoned farms, logged-off lands in the woods, utilizing vacated houses and cabins for homes.

Because of this movement, county schools witnessed a tremendous growth in enrollment. School bus lines had to be extended and school facilities enlarged.

Famed Rural School Soon Closes Forever

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Oct. 23.—A little one room school five miles east of this village, built over a century ago, and at one time attended by Januarius Aloysius MacGahan, the "Liberator of Bulgaria," is one of several which soon will go out of existence as the result of an order by the state department of education.

The centennary of the school was observed last year at a large celebration.

MacGahan was born near the little school house in 1844. Although he died in Constantinople in 1878, he was buried here. The Bulgarian minister to the United States, Simon Radeff, placed a wreath on MacGahan's grave on July 4, 1929, by request of King Boris of Bulgaria.

QUARTET PLANS MANY ACTIVITIES FOR COMING WEEK

Sunday evening they will be heard in the sacred concert at the Third United Presbyterian church; Monday evening they will entertain at the pastor's reception in the Croton Avenue church, later appearing at the party in the Third United Presbyterian church. Tuesday they will join in the program at the Second United Presbyterian church, Wednesday evening at the congregational banquet in Trinity church.

New Castle Plays Altoona High Saturday

EXPECT BIG CROWD FOR FIRST DAY GAME AT TAGGART STADIUM

Schoolboys Lineup For Grid Tussle At 2:30 O'Clock—Red And Black Gridders Are In Good Mid-Season Condition For Setto—Altoona Comes Here With Undefeated Machine—Locals Will Try Desperately To Cop Fourth Victory Of Season—Senior High Gladiators End Training Today With Light Drills—Visitors Arrive Here Tonight—Coach Bridenbaugh Anticipates Using Same Lineup As Last Friday.

Keyed up to a high pitch for its first day grid battle of the season, the revamped New Castle high eleven is eagerly awaiting the whistle which will send it in action against Altoona high school's undefeated eleven at Taggart Stadium Saturday afternoon. The football game starts at 2:30 o'clock.

Meeting a schoolboy combination noted for its smoothness and speed on the gridiron, the local Red and Black proteges have undergone rigorous training and are in mid-season form. A sudden change of mind is the only thing that will prevent Coach Phil Bridenbaugh, local mentor from starting the same eleven gladiators who fought their way through a Woodward team last Friday. Taggart stadium is anticipated to be the mecca of several thousand spectators, Saturday.

First Meeting.

Both elevens are eager to cop this tilt. Being the first meeting between the schools, the gridders believe it is a good omen to win the first contest. Next season New Castle invades Altoona for the second game between the schools. On paper the Altoona Maroon avalanche is the favorite due to the record which it has compiled to date. The visitors have won five conflicts and have yet to lose.

With last year's victories, Altoona has captured nine consecutive games and will be after its tenth straight Saturday afternoon. In five battles this season the "horse shoe curve" boys have tallied 276 points which is supposed to be a record in the state. Woodward entered the field last week favorites to win by a good score. The result, however, showed a 38-0 victory for New Castle. A reverse is apt to take place tomorrow.

After the showing his varsity team made last week Coach Bridenbaugh during an interview stated that he will give the same 11 boys an opportunity to start against Altoona. Should he change his mind in the last minute he may start James or Reynolds in the backfield and Hileman and Askounes on the line.

Both lines are powerful. Altoona's line has proven to be a main cog in the victories so far. Although the backfield is speedy, it is the line which has opened big gaps for the ball toters. The New Castle line ripped the Woodward wall to pieces last week. It looks like an interesting battle on the line.

Altoona will pit its speed merchants against the Tin City ball carriers. That the combination of Lafferty, Dinges, Dillon and Captain Milton has worked wonders for the visitors can be readily seen by the scores of the games played to date. In several games the New Castle backfield combination led by John Uram demonstrated that it possesses speed.

Altoona will take the field with a record that any team would be proud to own. It has defeated Williamsburg, Pittsburgh South, Bellefonte, Hollidaysburg and Lock Haven. In scoring 276 points in the five games, Altoona has compiled an average of 55 1-5 points per game. That isn't so bad.

The local eleven has tallied 88 points to 41 for their opponents. These calculations show just what kind of a task New Castle is confronted with. The Tin City representatives have trimmed Coraopolis, McKees Rocks and Woodward high of Toledo. A victory for New Castle will mean that it will automatically spoil Altoona's hope for a schoolboy title. Only three teams have toppled Altoona in three years.

The Maroon eleven concluded its training session Thursday afternoon and left for New Castle early this morning. Altoona will arrive here tonight and rest at The Castleton until it is time for the game. New Castle's last workout is carded for this afternoon at Taggart field. The final drill will probably be light.

The probable lineups, according to the two coaches, will be as follows:

New Castle		Altoona
84 Ciccone (c)	L.E.	L. Patt 30
95 Crisci	L.T.	Hanley 36
72 Kazenski	L.G.	Fusco 20

63 Thomas	R.G.	Shively 24
96 Mike	R.T.	Lichenstein 34
80 Nocera	R.E.	Calderwood 23
75 J. Uram	Q.B.	Lafferty 10
66 Rambo	L.H.	Dinges 18
87 Burns	R.H.	Dillon 31
68 Kominic	F.B. (c)	Milton 39

Twenty-One Important Grid Games Carded In State, Friday-Saturday

Purdue-Carnegie Tech Game At Pittsburgh Heads List Of Spotlight Battles

Penn And Wisconsin Will Meet At Philadelphia —W. & J. And Lafayette

By GENE MYERS
International News Service Sports Writer

Gridiron enthusiasts who follow closely the varying fortunes of the Keystone State's pigskin squads are awaiting the final scores of Saturday in an attempt to align, in advance, the positions in which the teams will find themselves at the end of the 1931 football season.

Revaluation of several teams, given scant attention in the pre-season "dope" has been necessitated by reason of upsets which have featured the schedules to date. Such revaluation, however, is expected to be given the final touch by sundown on Saturday when the position of the teams may be used as a fair index as to how they will line up by Thanksgiving day.

Twenty Major Battles

Twenty-one major football battles will be fought on Pennsylvania soil Friday night and Saturday. Two games, Carnegie Tech's mixup with Purdue at Pittsburgh and Penn's clash with Wisconsin will draw the major portion of interest, although loyalists will support their alma maters at nineteen other skirmish grounds.

Penn Gridsters, tuned to a high note, will take on Wisconsin with misgivings. Throughout the week, the second team has shown Penn's first team that "first" and "second" means little. Although plenty of spirit was prevalent, Penn coaches will not be surprised to see the score board registering a victory for Wisconsin. New passes have been perfected for use against Wisconsin, but the latter, too, has been engaged in elaborating on powerful running plays.

Tech vs Purdue

Carnegie Tech followers will not be amazed should Purdue walk off with victory. Purdue suffered a setback at the hands of Wisconsin last week and invades Tech territory determined to wipe out last Saturday's reverse. Though the Tartans have been defeated in both major matches they have so far played, confidence has not ebbed. Improvement in the offensive and defensive play of Carnegie Tech was noticed throughout the week, Purdue, however is given the nod by dopesters.

Drilled strenuously on emergency scoring plays and boasting a strenghtened line, the Presidents of Washington and Jefferson invade Easton for a gridiron struggle with Lafayette. Lafayette dropped the usual Monday "off-day" to engage in additional practice. Because of the excellent performances of both teams to date, sport critics are hesitant about predicting the winner. The game is a toss-up.

Shunted from a victory over W. & J. by a one-point margin, Western Maryland invades the north Friday night, meeting Duquesne at Pittsburgh in a spotlight game. The Green Terrors have shown a splendid assortmant of plays and their overhead game is expected to give the Dukes considerable trouble. Western Maryland is expected to win despite the valiant battle waged by the Dukes against Georgetown.

Villanova-Baltimore

Villanova, outweighing the Baltimore eleven, which the Wildcats will meet in the Villanova stadium, will use powerful running plays. Although several injuries are reported on the squad, Villanova is favored.

Drexel will swing into position against City College of New York. Drexel dampened the aspirations of West Chester Teachers last week with strong offensive plays and is rated a favorite in the Saturday skirmish.

Albright, stronger than ever this season will match football wits with those of a crippled and humbled St. Thomas eleven. Albright should win by a large score.

St. Vincent gridders tangle with Broaddus at Latrobe. A full week of practice on clever offensive plays and desceptive passes throws the odds on St. Vincent.

Temple-Haskell

Temple University will clash with the Haskell Indians, successors to the old-time Carlisle Indians' eleven at Philadelphia Friday night. Lou Weller, named on Knute Rockne's All-Western team last season, and credited with being one of the greatest open field runners in the game will line up against Temple in the Haskell backfield. The Haskell group is a fast, quick thinking team and their deceptive plays are expected to cause trouble for the Owl line. Haskell is given the edge.

Ursinus mixes with Muhlenberg in an Eastern Conference game at Collegeville. Ursinus gained a conference victory at the expense of a much surprised Franklin and Marshall eleven last week and is expected to bowl over Muhlenberg.

Swamped by Albright with an overwhelming score last week, the Pennsylvania Military College eleven will line up against Dickinson as the underdog. Dickinson pushed over Penn State in clever fashion last week, much to the surprise of sport critics, and are favored in the P. M. C. classic.

Bucknell-Gettysburg

Playing their twenty-fifth game since the inception of the series between the two schools more than forty years ago, Bucknell will take on a severely dented Bullet eleven from Gettysburg. Although unable to boast an auspicious start this season Bucknell's line is heavier and more experienced than that of Gettysburg, and is expected to bring victory to the Bisons.

With a backfield in perfect physical condition and sporting several new plays, Bethany takes the field against Thiel at Greenville Saturday. Bethany defeated Bethel by a large score last week and is expected to win the Thiel mixup.

Slippery-Rock-Clarion

Perfecting several running plays and passes, Indiana is favored to win from Edinboro at Indiana.

Fresh from a win over Westminster, Grove City takes the field against Geneva at Beaver Falls on Friday night. Grove City is given the nod.

The West Chester Teachers are favored to overthrow Shippensburg when the teams line up at Shippensburg. The latter suffered a severe setback at the hands of East Stroudsburg last week and several injuries are reported.

Inspired by a new quarterback find in Johnny Meyers, Susquehanna faces Hamilton confident of victory. Only minor injuries are reported on the Susquehanna grid crew and dopesters given the Selinsgrove eleven the nod.

Hampered by a weak line, Swarthmore will battle Franklin and Marshall at Swarthmore. The Franklin and Marshall aggregation, smarting from an overthrow by Ursinus is expected to take the field in a do-or-die spirit. Franklin and Marshall is favored to win.

Moravian is expected to top Cooper U. at Bethlehem, dopesters predict.

Northwestern And Notre Dame Will Not Meet Again

Proposed Second Meeting For Charity Will Not Be Sanctioned, Is Report

(International News Service)

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Oct. 23.—There will be no playoff this season between Northwestern and Notre Dame, the two football teams that battled to a scoreless tie in Chicago's Soldier Field. This much was certain today as the result of a statement by Father O'Donnell, President of Notre Dame, affirming his school's willingness to participate in another charity game, but declining to have Northwestern as the opponent. Father O'Donnell and other school authorities expressed the belief that Notre Dame's willingness to play another game with Northwestern would indicate a presumption that the scoreless tie was an accident.

Jack Thompson To Defend His Title

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—Jack Thompson today declared himself fit and ready to defend his world's welterweight title. He fights Lou Brouillard, New England challenger, over the 15-round course at Boston Garden tonight.

The 147-pound king was a 7 to 5 choice to retain his title, despite the fact that Brouillard defeated the colored boxer here two months ago.

At the time Lou gave Jack a good smacking and the only thing that saved Thompson's crown was that Lou came in over the weight.

WESTMINSTER HAS PLAYED FOOTBALL FOR FORTY YEARS

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 23.—Westminster College has been playing intercollegiate football for 40 years. The first team at the United Presbyterian school was organized in 1891, although intramural football was in vogue at Westminster as early as 1889.

The first game one record with a college opponent was with Geneva College at New Wilmington. Geneva, with a veteran team, won the game 42-0. During the 40 years that Westminster has played intercollegiate ball, 22 different coaches have been in charge of Titan teams.

Willie Davies Is Winner Of Battle

Charleroi Flash Defeats Joe Dragon, Of Cincinnati At Clarksburg, West Va.

(International News Service)

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 23.—Battling Willie Davies, the punching bantamweight, crashed through to a popular victory in his battle against Joe Dragon, the Cincinnati flash, in what today was described as one of "the best fights" ever staged in the local arena.

Davies fought like a true champion, gradually wearing his opponent down with each successive round until Dragon was hardly a match for the Charleroi boy in the last four stanzas of the battle.

Dragon fought gamely but he lacked the technique and the strength to survive long against Davies' resounding punches and hard body blows. The decision was popular with the fans and Davies was given a tremendous ovation when he left the ring at the end of the fight.

GENEVA FOE OF WESTMINSTER IN THIRTY NINE GAMES

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 23.—Westminster College and Geneva College have met on the gridiron 39 times, the records show. Westminster's first intercollegiate game was with Geneva in 1891.

The Covenanters have defeated Westminster 19 times, Westminster has won 13 contests, and seven games have ended in tie scores. During the last three seasons, Westminster has won two and Geneva one. In 1928, Westminster won 12-0. The 1929 game again saw Westminster ahead 21-0. Last year Geneva won 7-0.

These two old rivals meet at Beaver Falls, Saturday, November 21, in the last game of the season for both teams.

WIN AT COLONIAL

Opening their football schedule for the season, the High Street Midgets early this week upset the hopes of the Happy Fives at Colonial field by the score of 24-6. Both teams have other games carded.

Team Play Much Better During Scrimmage This Week

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 23—Showing improved form in every scrimmage session this week, Coach John Lawther's Westminster College football team is in excellent shape for the Juniata game here Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

The Titans came out of the mud battle with Grove City in fine physical shape. Only James Bloker, Sandusky, O., utility player, is still on the injured list.

Starting on Monday, scrimmage sessions took on more interest when both the offense and the defense of the Titan team showed marked improvement. Not discouraged by defeats at the hands of Allegheny and Grove City, the players seemed to have learned overnight, and team play has improved so that Titan fans will be treated to a different brand of ball.

The scrimmage sessions on Wednesday and yesterday were especially good, finding the first-team backs blocking and running interference like veterans. Upon the continued play in these departments rests Westminster's chances against the five remaining foes on the schedule.

Juniata faces Westminster tomorrow with seven seniors. Twenty-three members of the Indian squad were on the team last season when Westminster won out by a 19-0 score at Huntingdon. The Juniata players will invade New Wilmington intent on avenging last year's setback.

To compete with the heavy forward wall of the Indian eleven, Coach Lawther will start his heaviest line. This will include Helmick and Hunneke, at end, Dishong and Rehfus at tackle, Hollander and Rose at guard, and Franklin at center. This line averages 177 pounds per man.

In the backfield, Shaffer will start at quarter, Young at left half, Siljander at right half, and Staples at fullback. Bob Scarbrough, chunky freshman, will also see service in the backfield. Pete Leyshock, Farrell lad will probably enter the game as an end.

The probable lineups:

Westminster		Juniata
Hunneke	L E	Manherz
Dishong	L T	Burkett
Rose	L G	Reber
Franklin	C	Law
Hollander	R G	Sproul
Rehfus	R T	Coder
Helmick	R E	Bloomingdale
Shaffer	Q B	Harley
Young	L H	Petty
Siljander	R H	LaPorte
Staples	F B	Renninger

Officials: Referee, W. C. Evans; Umpire, H. D. Robb; Linesman, L. K. McGlinchey. Kickoff, 2:30.

Outdoor Boxing Bouts Fail To Bring In Coin

Indoor Shows Are Revealed As Biggest Money Makers For Promoters

JIMMY JOHNSTON HAS CLEANED UP

By FRANKLIN GRANT
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Now that the outdoor season in pugdon has come to its finale, and the checkup has been completed, the warriors concluded today that indoor stuff is a far, far better thing for their bankrolls.

More than a dozen first class jousts were offered to the public during the none-too-good-old-summertime and the total cash response was under $750,000, which is what Jack Dempsey was accustomed to hauling in at his training camp appearances.

The "golden era" of boxing has gone, so far as outdoor shows are concerned, and the smart manager is the one who, in future, will put his men to work at indoors shows, picking up a little bit here and a little bit there, instead of waiting around for the "one big shot" in the summer.

Cleveland Bout Fiasco.

The Schmeling-Stribling thing in Cleveland was the major fiasco, it's net went well under $300,000. This was a great tragedy in the life of Madison Square Garden's 600 assorted millionaires, because all and sundry had anticipated an intake of no less than $600,000, and had geared the overhead accordingly.

Jimmy Johnston, promoting on his own, made money on all but one of his shows. The flop was Rosenbloom against Slattery, in a dancing, prancing test, which was billed "for the light heavyweight title." The net was around $12,000 but the fighters were in on a percentage only, so Johnson's loss was neglibible. He profited on Carnera vs. Redmon, Sharkey vs. Walker and Carnera vs. Sharkey—which is perhaps more than can be said about any other impressario of socks and blocks.

Outdoor promotions elsewhere had a rough time. The gates everywhere were under even the most pessimistic anticipations. And, as a consequence, the pickings for the fighters and managers through the summer of 1931 were hardly enough to enable the boys to buy themselves a new pair of garters and some canned beans for the wintertime ahead.

Duquesne To Meet Western Maryland

Petrone Wins On Foul Blow

(International News Service)

McKEESPORT, Pa., Oct. 23.—The main bout on the boxing card at the Palisades Rink here last night came to a sour ending in the initial stanza when Lou Petrone, 137, Boston, won on a foul from Eddie Brannon, 139, Pittsburgh negro. Brannon twice hit the Boston boy too near the belt after the bell had rung ending the opening round. Petrone easily took the first round.

Lou Sanders, Pittsburgh, kayoed Lou Wallace, Youngstown, in the first round of the semi-final. Joe Bazzone, McKeesport, tamed Charles Vlozevich, St. Michaels, in a six-round bout, and Chuck Zelnack, McKeesport, won over Gene Campbell McKeesport, by a technical knockout in the second round.

(International News Service)

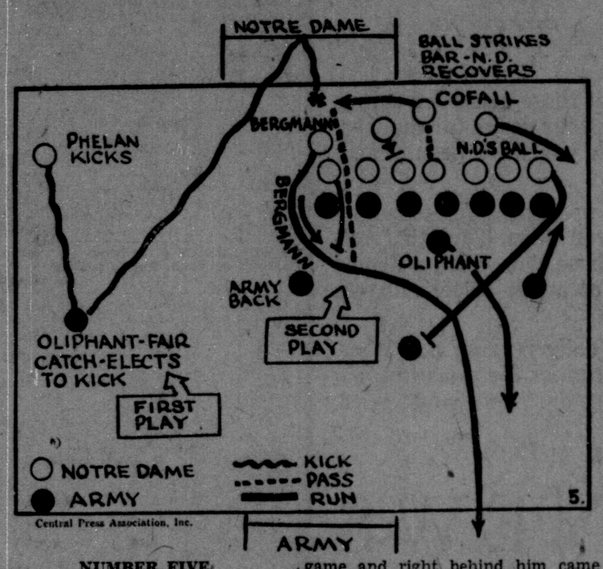
Rockne's Best Plays

By COACH EDWARD (SLIP) MADIGAN

Written Exclusively For Central Press And New Castle News
How Notre Dame Turned Oliphant's goal try into boomerang.



NUMBER FIVE

Notre Dame had no license in the world to beat the West Point Cadets in the fall of 1915. Army had a big, powerful team. That year it had swept everything before it and figured to take us in stride. The Army team was led by that gallant gridiron grenadier, Elmer (The Great) Oliphant. He came to the academy via Purdue, where he was already a great star, an All-American.

In 1915 Knute K. Rockne was still a boy. Hadn't lost his hair yet. He was not even the head coach at the time. Only Jess Harper's assistant.

Rock hadn't absorbed the great store of football knowledge that he was to acquire with passing years. But he had a keen football sense and that guided us into a sensational upset triumph that day. Without Knute there wasn't a chance in the world of winning.

I don't believe Harper realized it before the day, and neither did us boys, but after Rock's brilliant thinking in the big clinch in the game, it dawned upon us all that he was the brains of the Notre Dame team.

Fate was with us in this game but it was Rockne who enticed fate to come our way. It was a close call. Had to rush the signals through on the last play to beat the bark of the final gun. And when the pistol did crack the ball was 50 yards from the winning touchdown. We just staggered in under the wire.

We had fought true to the name of Fighting Irish throughout four bitter quarters. Oliphant gave us no rest all afternoon. He crouched and sprang at us at every point in the line. It seemed as though we were always back up against our goal posts.

Put somehow we always managed to stave off a final touchdown thrust. And every time Jimmy Phelan (later Purdue and Washington coach) would kick us out of imminent danger.

Army lost the ball on downs on our five-yard line just as the time keeper came into warn both sides there was only two minutes to go. Phelan fell back behind his goal posts. He was kicking against a stiff wind. Jimmy got off a beautiful spiral, almost back to midfield.

Oliphant, playing safety, did some quick thinking. He signalled for a fair catch. Few football fans know it, but in 1915 as at present, the side making a fair catch has the choice of putting the ball in play where caught or requesting a free kick, which is optional between a punt, drop kick or kick from placement.

Oliphant knew he had a gale at his back and he had a fine chance to boot a field goal and beat us 3 to 0. So he asked for a free kick. He took his time measuring his stride for the kick from about the 50-yard line. The Cadet star got off a beautiful, true kick.

For a moment it looked good. But it lacked "legs" 'and loft. It came so close to being good that it hit the cross bar and bounced back onto the field to be in play in our possession, on the 20-yard line.

There wasa sign of relief on the Notre Dame bench. It looked like a sure tie with the great Cadet team. That was as good as victory to us. Right then and there everybody stopped thinking. Everybody but Rockne.

Harper was busy kneeling on the ground caring for an injured Notre Dame player who had just come limping out of the game. Rock, though, was all eyes, ears—and I guess nose an' throat.

"Look at that Oliphant!" Rockne suddenly cried. "He's down in the mouth. Look at him! Got his head down! Don't know he's in the game! Asleep at the switch!"

Rockne had grasped Oliphant's disappointment in his failure to kick that goal. He knew Oliphant had no business in the game after that. He knew that the great Oliphant was now the weakest link in the great Army grid chain.

Rockne then took the situation in his own hands. There was scarcely time left for two plays. He knew he would have to utilize not only the forward pass but speed as well.

He looked up and down the bench and his eyes fell on "Dutch" Bergman. Bergman was later a great Notre Dame star, but at that time he was only a green substitute who could run like blazes and occasionally catch a pass.

Rock rushed Bergman into the game and right behind him came Quarterback "Chuck" Grant.

"Don't waste any time lining up," Grant was ordered by Rock. "Give 'em 54! Cofall do the passing and tell him to make the throw to Bergman in back of Oliphant. You'll be lucky if you can get in two plays before the gun—so make the first one good!"

Number 54 was what is known as a "hole" pass. If the defensive fullback is on the job it's a difficult pass to make good. But there was the great, usually alert Oliphant, Army's defensive fullback, standing in a daze, asleep at the switch, just like Rock said he'd be. That missed field goal just about broke Oliphant's fine fighting heart.

The timer was cocking his gun as Stanley Cofall faded back and shot that pass. It clicked! Bergman had raced around in back of Oliphant, nabbed the ball and was just stepping across the 50-yard line as the gun barked the finish.

Bergman sprinted on with the Oliphant, now aroused to the significance of his blunder, in pursuit. Too late! Mercury couldn't have caught Bergman on that play. That spring Bergman had equalled the world record for the 100-yard dash at 9 3-5. I honestly think he could make it as fast in his football shoes. He planted the ball between the goal posts and we won 6 to 0 in the most spectacular finish I ever saw to any football game.

Seniors Defeat Junior Eleven, 6-0

Hazen Scores Only Touchdown Of Game In Second Period Of Fast Game

Making a steady march down the field which eventually culminated in a touchdown by Hazen from the four yard line in the second quarter, the Seniors bested the Junior eleven in a regular Inter-Class league game played at Taggart stadium Thursday afternoon. The score was 6-0.

Aside from the second period when the Junior line became weak the two teams battled to even terms during the remaining three quarters. The game was fast throughout. The Seniors came close to scoring again in the first and third periods but lost the pill on downs.

In the second quarter the Seniors took the pikskin on the 35 yard line and marched down the field. After carrying the oval to the 4 yard mark, Hazen on a fake double pass ran over the goal line standing up. The Juniors never threatened the goal line.

For the Seniors, Hazen, Quinn and Rankin were the best while McKay and Aldridge were the best for the Juniors.

Sun Beau, Great Money Winner Is Going To Retire

Willis Sharpe Kilmer, Owner Of Sun Beau And Exterminator Banks $629,340

(International News Service)

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 23.—Sun Beau, world's leading money winner, has run his last race and is being "unwound" here by Trainer Jack Whyte in preparation for the six-year-old horse's retirement to the Willis Sharpe Kilmer breeding farm. The retirement of Sun Beau at this time means he will not be a starter in any of the Maryland autumn stakes to which he is eligible.

The veteran cup performer's retirement also means his owner annexes another record. This achievement comes through the dual earnings of Exterminator and Sun Beau. Between the two thoroughbreds, the former acquired by purchase before the running of the Kentucky Derby of 1918 and the latter a home-bred, stake and purse earnings totalling $629,340 were placed to the credit of Kilmer.

No two other thoroughbreds have jointly won a sum as great for a single owner on the American turf.

Class B High School Grid Game Is Scheduled For Today

Two confident elevens one from Shenango high and the other from Bessemer concluded training Thursday afternoon for their crucial Booster Day game which is scheduled for this afternoon at Shenango high. The battle starts at 3:30 o'clock.

The two coaches stated following the final workout that their team is in the best of condition for the tussle. Bessemer may take the field minus the services of one Stanley their main cog in the offense. Shenango high is primed for the acid test of the season. Annually this battle attracts lots of interest due to the keen rivalry between the schools. A big crowd is expected to attend the Booster Day attraction.

The kickoff is scheduled for 3:30 o'clock.

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Workers in the campaign to raise a fund for the unemployed were inspired to renewed effort today by a contribution of $70,000 from the Hawthorne horse racing track. The money comprised the proceeds of yesterday's charity program, sponsored by Mayor Anton Cermak. A crowd of 20,000 witnessed the races, the largest assemblage at the track since the beginning of the fall season.

ETTA KETT — THE PLAN THAT FLOPPED — BY PAUL ROBINSON

NEW YORK STOCKS

Slightly Higher Price Trend For Some Stocks

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The railroad stocks and the public utilities were inclined to slightly higher prices in a dull and featureless market this morning. Rails moved up a point or two at the beginning in response to the railroad chiefs' acceptance of the commerce commission's plan for pooling the proceeds of freight rate increases, while price gains in the utilities were mostly fractional. Railroad bonds were quiet and steady.

After the first-hour the market settled down to a slow and steady pace, with professional activity accounting for the bulk of the turnover in all sections of the list. The Steel and Electrical manufacturing stocks were fairly active, as also were the Coppers, some of which added fractionally to yesterday's modest advances. Consolidated Gas, North American, Public Service of New Jersey and other well known utility stocks were in good demand.

In the absence of special developments in industry and business, stocks marked time in the second hour. Heads of the Steel manufacturing enterprises at their semi-annual meeting spoke hopefully of the immediate prospects for their own industry, and a more hopeful view is also taken of the railroad outlook. Copper sold at 7 cents a pound in order to meet foreign competition. Call money was unchanged at 2½ per cent and Cotton rose about 6 points. Liberty bonds and foreign government issues were the leaders in a moderate upturn in bond prices.

SUN HATCHES SNAKES IN FLOWER POT

PRESHO, S. D., Oct. 23.—Other family homes are troubled with mice, flies, or some other pests, but the "Doc" Sharpe home was invaded with a hatching of baby snakes recently.

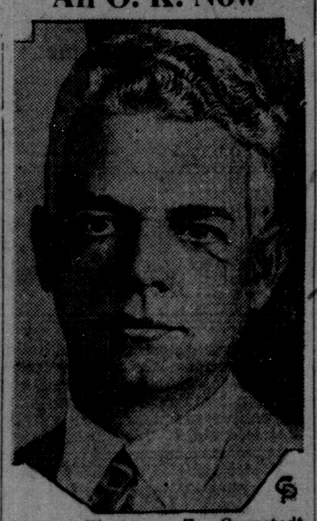
Mrs. Sharpe went out onto the sun porch one day and screamed to her husband for help. She announced that there were "a lot of snakes out there."

Sharpe looked out, the reptiles were squirming, crawling and slipping down the side of a flower pot. Then he remembered that he had found some snake eggs under a culvert and buried them in the flower pot. The hot sun had hatched them.

ASK REFUND ON MERCANTILE TAX

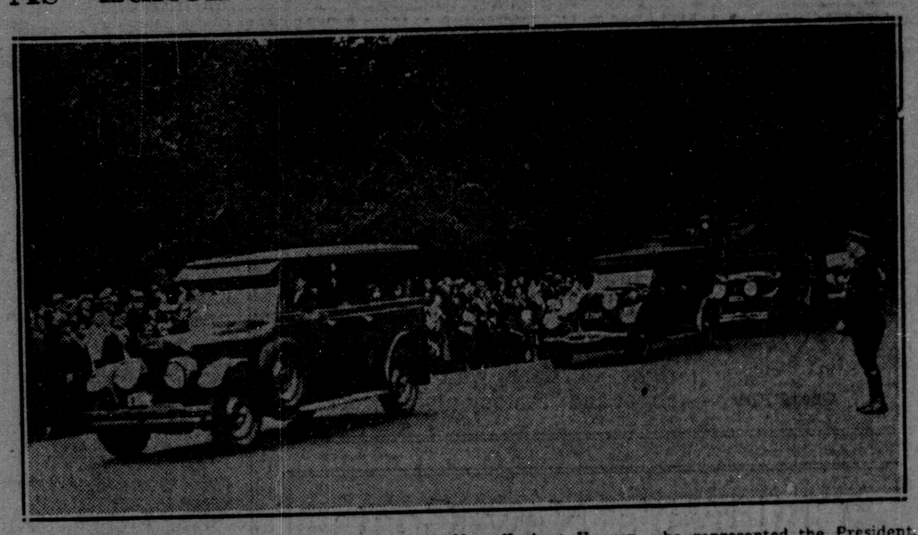
Crowl Brothers today asked council to remit to them $40 of a $60 mercantile tax paid the city for their place of business on North Jefferson street, which has been closed since September 30. The mercantile tax was for the coming year and inasmuch as they were in business only four months of the year the tax covered, council granted the petition for remittance.

All O. K. Now



Mayor Walter E. Quenstedt (above), of Annapolis, Md., who has received a letter of apology from President Hoover, following a misunderstanding between the Chief Executive and the Mayor about a civic reception which was to have been tendered the President when he passed through Annapolis recently. Upon Mr. Hoover's return to Mayor Quenstedt's city, the latter snubbed him by failing to appear at a formal welcome. The President's apology cleared the incident.

As Edison Went to Last Resting Place



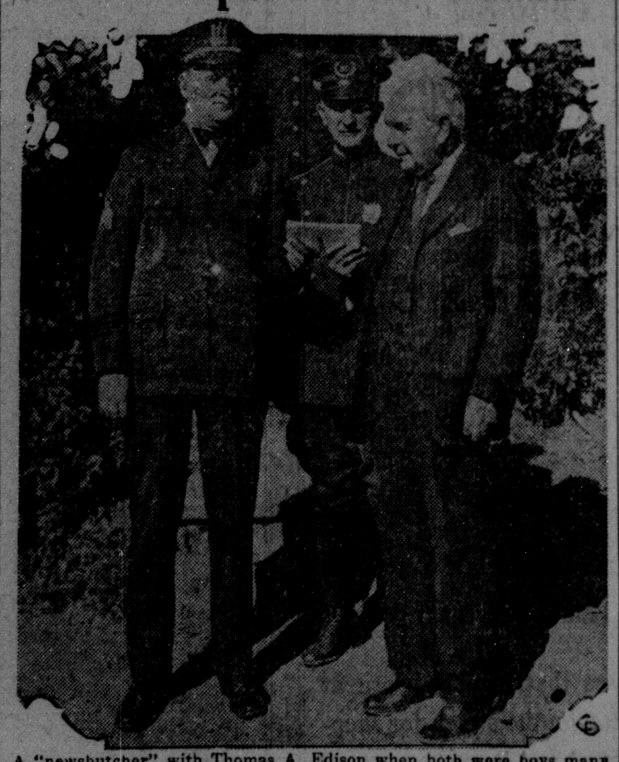
Notables from all walks of life, including Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who represented the President, followed in the cortege as the body of Thomas A. Edison was borne to its last resting place in Rosedale Cemetery, East Orange, N. J. This impressive view shows the hearse bearing the mortal remains of the great genius leaving the Edison estate at Llewellyn Park.

NEW GENERATION RAISES VOICE

Miss Ishbel MacDonald — Miss Megan Lloyd George — Oliver Baldwin

With elections approaching in England the voice of the younger generation is being heard. Miss Ishbel MacDonald, left, daughter of the prime minister, has begun campaign activities in behalf of her father; Miss Megan Lloyd George, right, attacking the National government in a speech in Wales, has expressed views accepted by commentators as those of her father, the Liberal leader; while Oliver Baldwin, below, right, Socialist son of Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, has announced that he will not seek re-election to the house of commons as a Labor candidate because the party is not "Red" enough to please him.

Sold Papers With Edison



A "newsbutcher" with Thomas A. Edison when both were boys many years ago, John F. Talbot, 82, (right) journeyed 400 miles from his home in Bedford, Va., to West Orange, N. J., to attend the last rites for the world-famous inventor. Talbot, not evidencing his over four-score years, is showing Sergt. Ed. Williams (left) and Policeman John Ryan a memento of his youthful days with "the master."

Dusty Rhodes Weds

Freckled Baby Boys Favorites For Adoption

Blue Eyed Baby Girl With Curls Also Popular

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—Red-headed, freckle-faced baby boys or blue-eyed baby girls with golden curls—these are the two types of orphans who win the hearts of the childless mothers of Massachusetts.

Miss Winifred A. Keneran, director of the Division of Child Guardianship of the State Department of Public Works, states that the usual requests in cases of adoption are for these types of children.

A spirit of kindliness, rather than a spirit of profit animates Massachusetts families in general in caring for the state's 7,000 homeless boys and girls, Miss Keneran says.

The large number of women throughout the Bay State, who open up their homes to children deprived of the usual family care, do it for love and not for the mere mite received. The child older than a baby costs the state $3.50 a week, and the baby costs $4.

In one instance, a woman, wealthy and prominent, cared for twenty-three children. But this was not a record, for in some cases the number has been more. As soon as one adopted group grew up, another was taken, and so on.

Great care is taken by the department in the placing of children. Babies and the older children are placed in the hands of families that have taken wards for years.

There are many women in the city limits who do nothing but care for babies. When the child grows up it is transferred to an outlying section where it can romp about and play.

A large number of mothers adopt children even though they have children of their own, Miss Keneran explains further. When their sons and daughters have grown up and are at school and college, they long for children playing about the house.

The majority of the state wards cannot be adopted legally in many instances because parents of the children maintain an interest in them although they have no means of supporting them.

A large issue facing the state has been the payment of tuition and transportation to and from schools of those wards in outlying cities and towns. This reaches about $200,000 annually.

MALE FISH ASSUME NURSEMAIDS' ROLE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—Playing nursemaid to their young is the most important duty of the male members of the family of tropical fish known as betta cambodia.

The male accepts all the labor connected with the upbringing of its young, authorities said at the 18th annual exhibition of the Gold and Tropical Fish society at Horticultural hall, Fairmount Park.

COLLEGE HEAD URGES STUDENTS CUT COSTS

MUNICE, Ind., Oct. 23.—A curb on expensive social functions during the winter was urged upon students of Ball State Teachers college here by President D. R. Pittenger.

"I expect the best year in the life of the college," the president said, "but this must come without waste of money. There is an economic depression and your fathers and mothers are footing your bills. You must learn to have fun and to work at a less expense than college students for the past 10 or 15 years."

OREGON STARTS PROBE OF STATE ACCIDENTS

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 23.—Oregon's industrial accident commission has launched an investigation into records of employers who attempted to take money from the state accident fund by irregular methods.

After a recent hearing, an employer was compelled to reimburse the commission $1,000 when it was found he had misrepresented his payrolls.

WOLF ESCAPED, BUT CAME BACK, HUNGRY

(International News Service)

OAKLAND, Calif., Oct. 23.—When a wolf can't make a living in the open something seems wrong.

"Boots," a big timber wolf quartered at the municipal zoo, tried it on his own and made a miserable failure. He came back to his cage, dirty, bedraggled and haggard.

The big wolf escaped by the simple expedient of pulling the bolt with his teeth. He set forth in search of adventure and delicacies.

Fearing to alarm residents near the zoo, attendants conducted a quiet search, they couldn't find him.

One morning "Boots" was found in his cage. The door was open but freedom had lost its charm. What he wanted was meat. And how he ate! He "wolfed" his breakfast.
